ED raids Paytm, Razorpay offices

Searches part of ongoing investigation against illegal Chinese loan apps; ₹17 crore seized

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru, New Delhi

THE Directorate of Enforcement (ED) carried out raids at premises of payment gateways — Paytm, Razorpay and Cashfree — on Saturday in connection with an ongoing probe against illegal Chinese loan apps.

It is alleged that these apps have been mushrooming in India, duping lakhs of youth that has led to major economic and social consequences, including many victims committing suicide.

The Central probe agency carried out searches on six premises in Bengaluru, including those belonging to the three fintech firms — Razorpay Pvt Ltd, Cashfree Payments, Paytm Payment Services Ltd — and entities controlled and operated by Chinese-origin promoters.

The agency said Rs 17 crore kept in "merchant IDs and bank accounts of Chinese persons-controlled entities" has been seized during the raids. The search operations are underway and the raids were carried out under the provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA), 2002, the agency added.

As many as 18 FIRs have been filed by the Cyber Crime Police Station, Bengaluru City, against numerous entities and persons in connection with their alleged involvement in extortion and harassment of the public who had availed small amounts of loans through mobile apps.

During the probe, it emerged that these entities are controlled and operated by Chinese people. Explaining their modus operandi, the agency said these entities used forged documents of Indians and made them dummy directors. The entities were generating proceeds of crime through various merchant IDs and accounts held with payment gateways or banks. They are also not operating from the addresses given on the Ministry of Corporate Affairs website. The companies, allegedly backed by Chinese nationals, were incorporated during the Covid pandemic in 2020 with the help of chartered accountants. P10

Limbavali played for 'rude' behaviour with woman

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

BJP MLA Aravind Limbavali has landed himself in a controversy for allegedly behaving rudely with a woman, who approached him during an encroachment clearance drive. Later, in an attempt to defend himself, he questioned, "Did I rape her?" drawing sharp criticism from the opposition Congress as well as netizens.

The incident took place on Thursday when the BBMP had undertaken an encroachment removal drive following floods in Mahadevapura. On Saturday, a video of the spat between the Mahadevapura MLA and the woman

ORR flooding: ₹225 crore lost

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

FLOODING on Outer Ring Road (ORR) in Bengaluru on August 30 led to a loss of Rs 225 crore as a large number of employees working for many firms were stranded on the road for nearly five hours. This, despite only 30 per cent of ORR population returning to work-from-office. ORR IT generates a revenue of $22 billion per annum which is 32 per cent of the city's revenue and is also the highest tax contributor. However, the lack of focus on development of the corridor has come in for criticism.

VINCENT D'SOUZA @ Mangaluru

FOR cancer patients, it is a battle each day. From attending chemotherapy sessions to taking the required medicines, their travails — apart from the pain — are many. Here is a group that is striving to bring smiles on the faces of cancer patients.

Meet 17-year-old Aadya Sulochana, a PU II student, who always wanted to do something for cancer patients. Her dance mate and a teacher had succumbed to the deadly disease in quick succession and the loss had a profound impact on her. In 2020, when the country was under Covid-induced lockdown, Aadya from Puttur in Dakshina Kannada district realised that hair donation could be useful to cancer patients as they suffer from hair loss due to chemotherapy. It was then that the girl, who always sported short hair, decided to grow it long and donated it for the cause. Inspired by her, many of her friends wanted to follow in her footsteps. Nine of them, both boys and girls, came together to set up 'Seeds of Hope', a charity initiative to help cancer patients, primarily by donating hair that could be crafted into wigs.

It is interesting to know how the youngsters set up a charity organisation when they could have donated their hair to any organisation, like Aadhyia did. "Initially, I thought of referring my friends to the organisation where I donated my hair. But I was not sure whether that organisation was genuine or not as it had not communicated with me after the donation. This made me a little suspicious and we decided to have our own organisation to ensure that donations reach the right people," explains Aadya.

Once started, there was no looking back. Over the last two years, this bunch of enthusiastic and highly-motivated teenagers has conducted hair donation camps with the support of organisations like Rotary and Lions where many girls and women, irrespective of their age, have come forward to donate their hair. Also, with the help of Muliya Foundation, they have set up a hair bank in Puttur where the donors can send their hair through courier.

So far, they have collected hair from over 300 persons and donated wigs to 15 needy patients without charging a paisa. Women from all age groups and from outside Karnataka and even abroad have donated their hair. "Among the donors so far, the youngest was a Class 3 student and the eldest a 73-year-old woman. We even got a donor from California who is my cousin's colleague," adds Aadya.

Most of the donors contact Muliya Foundation and then, a member of Seeds of Hope will

HAIR DONATION CAMP
Seeds of Hope has organised its next hair donation camp from 10 am onwards on September 11 at Shakti Residential PU College in Mangaluru where Aadya and her team are currently pursuing their PU courses.

contact prospective donors and guide them on trimming the hair and sending it across. The donors will get an e-certificate in appreciation of their donation.

The organisation accepts hair that is 15 inches or longer. The collected hair is segregated depending on length, type and texture. When a cancer patient approaches them for a wig, they will first find out what kind of hair suits them and design the wigs accordingly. The hair is sent to a wig manufacturer in Tamil Nadu and then donated to the recipient.

The wig maker charges Rs 8,000 per wig and the hair used to craft a wig costs another Rs 8,000 in the open market. To meet the cost of crafting wigs and other expenses, Seeds of Hope and Muliya Foundation raise funds from the public.

Dr Jyothi Rai, a Kannada lecturer at Alva's College and a cancer patient, who got a wig from Seeds of Hope, says the idea conceptualised by Aadya and others is beyond their age. "I can't imagine that these small girls and boys are doing such great work. It is a big gift to cancer patients as it helps them get over severe mental trauma," she added.

Dr Rai came to know about Seeds of Hope after the daughter of one of her colleagues donated her hair for the cause. "Then I contacted Aadya. Initially, I thought that she was a big woman and was addressing her as madam. Later when I came to know that she is a teenager, I was astonished by her maturity and thinking," she says.

"My wig was so natural and beautiful that my friends and colleagues told me that it doesn't look like a wig and I have got back my earlier look. I wore it for a year till my hair grew back. My donors included a playback singer and I got a letter from them wishing me a quick recovery. I also called them over the phone to thank them," adds Dr Rai.

A Good Samaritan is ensuring that 25 slum children, who quit their education during the pandemic, don't lag behind

- Venkatraman Iyer, Founder, Swabhimaan Trust

Ibrahim Ahmed in class.

Swabhimaan Trust's work

Swabhimaan Trust was founded by Venkatraman Iyer and his wife Vijaya in 2001. Initially working to support poor single mothers, the NGO gradually began serving several critical areas, like education, healthcare, microfinance, and food distribution, among others, and especially devoted itself to improving the lives and livelihoods of the poor residing in Bengaluru's slums.

EDUCATION is a common thread which binds a country's vision together, be it economic, social, political, or cultural. It is that sea of dreams and possibilities on which sail a nation and its citizens, steering towards their futures.

Sadly, however, the recent pandemic exposed a harsh reality — about the affordability of education. As Covid struck, many lost jobs, and several among the have-nots were compelled to pull their children out of school as they could no longer afford the fees. This prompted conscious citizens to not only come forward to bridge the academic gap between various strata of society, but also to help the poor children study through the pandemic.

Hope for 25

Twenty-five children from Koramangala's Rajendra Nagar slum, in Bengaluru, dropped out of school during the pandemic. But there was a ray of hope. Venkatraman Iyer, a Middle-East returnee, came forward to ensure that they don't fall back on their academics. Iyer enrolled them into the National Institute of Open Schooling (NIOS) programme through his Swabhimaan Education Trust.

The children, who are in their Class X, have been attending the programme for the last four months for free. Iyer, who founded the Trust over two decades ago, says the pandemic forced parents to get their children out of school, and wait out the pandemic to rejoin later. These students would lose at least a year, or might have altogether discontinued their studies.

The Trust is enabling these children to keep pace with their studies. "A house was taken on rent and we set up a classroom and computer centre on the top floor. We registered the 25 students into NIOS-Delhi system. Qualified teachers, hailing from humble backgrounds, have been roped in on salary basis. We are sure of success as the best teaching method has been adopted," Iyer says, and adds that from next year, the programme will be scaled up.

One of the teachers, Ibrahim Ahmed, who is pursuing BSc second year at Lal Bahadur Shastri Degree College in RT Nagar, Bengaluru, is confident of his students cracking the exams in March-April.

Ahmed's teaching skills were noticed by Iyer in 2020, when he came seeking a scholarship. Impressed by his mathematical prowess, Iyer offered him a job, though Ahmed was still a PU II student. "We have been taking classes for regular school students for the last three years, and since 25 others have dropped out of school, Iyer sir had this idea of registering them in the NIOS programme. In recent tests, many of these kids scored 20 on 20 in maths," says Ibrahim.

Focus on Kannada too

"Some students are migrants and speak Hindi. We make sure that they learn Kannada as well," says Iyer.

Suraj Kumar Pandey, a student who dropped out of Green Land High School in Koramangala, says his father — a construction labourer — found it difficult to fund his education during the lockdowns. "I was taken into the programme in June after my school barred me from attending classes for not paying the fee. Here, we are taught between 6.30 am and 1 pm," he says.

For Irsan Pasha's father, an auto driver, arranging monthly school fees post-Covid was impossible. Since Iyer was around helping slum dwellers, the family approached him for the fees, but he enrolled Pasha for free. The parents are now confident that Pasha would excel in studies, as he has secured good marks in all the subjects in the recent class test.

From a measly 12 per cent literacy rate in 1947, to over 77 per cent today, India has indeed come a long way in educating its people, but a lot of issues still need to be addressed. The silver lining, however, people like Iyer are ensuring that no child is deprived of pen and paper, and a dream.

First Metro pier comes up inside airport campus

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE first Metro pier inside the premises of Kempegowda International Airport was cast on Saturday afternoon marking a significant breakthrough for the final stretch of the Phase 2B line from Yelahanka to the Airport terminal station. A total of 67 piers will dot the 15-km line.

The first pier being cast on the KIA premises on Saturday, for the last stretch of Metro's Airport Line

It took a little over three hours for completion. "Work on the line began at 1.35 pm and ended at 3.36 pm," Colonel Vinod Sasalatti, Deputy Chief Engineer, Airport Line, Package 3, BMRL, told TNIE. Contractor NCC is executing the work. "It has taken us four months since we began barricading the portion of the airport to ready the pillars. We had to transplant nearly 200 trees that dotted the line, shift a water utility line, as well as electrical poles to facilitate the work. We had to get permission from Bangalore International Airport Limited at every stage as it passes via their campus," Sasalatti said.

A total of 16 cubic metres of concrete, brought from the casting yard of Doddajala were brought in a mixer and poured into a pier shutter to facilitate it. The pier touches a height of 8 metres and has a diameter running to 1.6 metres, the official explained. "The pier will be allowed to settle in this condition for 18 hours," Sasalatti added.

The pier shutter is a unique piece of equipment where the segments are assembled together at the spot with numerous bolts. The 38.44-km KR Puram to KIA line has been divided into three packages. It will be mostly elevated, with just 900 metres running underground inside the airport terminal. "The two stations inside the terminal will be built by BIAL. Package 3 is on target to meet the Metro Phase-2 deadline of March 2025," he added.

HC QUASHES 'NOTE', ASKS KEA TO REDO CET RANKING

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

CONSIDERING the marks secured by students in the PU II exam held in 2021 for admission to other undergraduate courses and not for determining ranks for admission to engineering and technical courses is not only discriminatory and arbitrary but also unfair and unreasonable, said the Karnataka High Court. It quashed the 'note' by the Karnataka Examination Authority (KEA) that the second PU marks obtained by CET repeaters, who are the petitioners, would not be considered for CET ranking for 2022-23.

Allowing a batch of petitions by CET repeaters seeking directions to KEA to consider their marks in CET and 2021 qualifying examinations equally to determine the ranks for 2022-23, Justice SR Krishna Kumar directed KEA to redo CET rankings for admission to engineering and technology courses for 2022-23.

The students did not appear for the PU II examination in 2021, which was cancelled due to Covid and they were promoted through internal assessment. The government issued a notification on September 1, 2021, amending Rule 4 by inserting a proviso, stating that merit should be determined by considering the marks obtained only in the CET 2021-22. For KCET 2022, 2,10,829 students appeared, of whom 1,69,328 are eligible for allotment of seats. Of the candidates who appeared, 23,344 belong to the 2020-21 batch. KEA released CET results and students' rankings on July 30, 2022 and also issued the note the same day. The court said KEA's conduct in not informing petitioners has resulted in denying an opportunity to the petitioners and other students to surrender their previous year's Second PUC/12th standard marks and retake the Second PUC/12th standard examinations once again is yet another factor that would vitiate the impugned order.

Namrata Sindwani @ Bengaluru: Karnataka Common Entrance Test (KCET) fresher students are unhappy with the Karnataka High Court's judgment granting relief to the petitioners against Karnataka Examination Authority's decision to not consider PU marks for the final KCET score. With the judgement going in favour of repeat students, the freshers might consider dropping out this year. Many freshers are now confused and disappointed about their ranks as recalculation will cause their ranks to dip. Yashwant K, a fresher, said all of their hardwork is in vain, and they are worried about their future. He said he is extremely worried about the re-ranking and is confused whether to drop out or not. The students are also worried that if many drop out this year, the number of repeaters next year will be huge. Piyush Sahoo, another fresher, said it was not possible for him to take a drop year, and he plans to seek admission on the basis of the new ranks. KEA executive director Ramya S said they will be formulating a plan for re-ranking and also expected initiation of counselling processes soon, after going through the court's order.

IIA to help set up 'Dark Sky Reserve'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

BENGALURU-based Indian Institute of Astrophysics (IIA) will be involved in establishing a first-of-its-kind in India 'Dark Sky Reserve' in Ladakh, said Union Minister of State of Science and Technology Dr Jitendra Singh.

The minister said a tripartite MoU has been signed between Ladakh administration, Ladakh Autonomous Hill Development Council (LAHDC) and IIA in this regard and the reserve will be completed in three months.

Under the project, a first-ever 'Night Sky Sanctuary' will also be built in Hanle, Ladakh. Changthang Wildlife Sanctuary is also being developed.

"All the stakeholders will jointly work towards the preservation of the night sky from unwanted light pollution and illumination, which is a serious threat to scientific observations and natural sky conditions. Hanle is best suited for the project as it is located in Ladakh's cold desert region, away from human disturbance. A clear sky and dry weather conditions prevail throughout the year," he said. The sanctuary will be one of the highest-located sites in the world for optical, gamma ray and infrared telescopes. Scientists from Central Leather Research Institute (CLRI), Chennai, will visit Ladakh to explore setting up a CLRI branch as the Union territory is home to a diverse variety of animals.

'Processes online, transparent; Waiting for govt permission to file defamation case'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

MEMBERS of the Karnataka State Education Officers Association on Saturday hit out at the two school associations that have levelled several allegations against them.

The association members said the Recognised Unaided Private Schools' Association (RUPSA) and Associated Managements Of Schools In Karnataka (KAMS), both of whom wrote letters to Prime Minister Narendra Modi highlighting several issues in school education, have levelled baseless allegations against the education department.

They presented several documents, including government and Supreme Court orders, denying the allegations made by the two associations. They said RUPSA president Lokesh Talikatte and KAMS general secretary Shashi Kumar are making the allegations for their own personal gains.

They rubbished accusations of bribery, stating that most processes, including document collection for accreditation, are done online with no communication between school managements and department officials. The three-man committee that RUPSA and KAMS alleged was involved in bribery and harassment conducts only physical inspections of schools and there is no malpractice as the process is transparent, they maintained. They mentioned that transfers of teachers from primary to high school are being done strictly without any loopholes.

On government schools being neglected, they said, "Several programmes are being implemented to empower government schools and impart quality education. Efforts are being made to repair buildings, construct new school rooms and develop basic facilities through departmental projects."

They demanded that the two associations give proof for their allegations mentioned in the letters and said BEOs and other officials in the department are working within the legal framework of the government. "We strongly condemn the allegations and are waiting for permission from the government to file a defamation case. If there is information about officials involved in corruption and if their names are disclosed, the minister, principal secretary and commissioner of the department are ready to take immediate action," the association said.

After floods, BBMP identifies 696 encroachments, issues notices

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

AFTER severe flooding in Mahadevapura and Bommanahalli zones, BBMP Commissioner Tushar Girinath said major bottlenecks that encroached on stormwater drains have been identified and notices have been issued. As per his information, the BBMP has identified 696 encroachments. The highest number of 175 encroachments were in Mahadevapura while 110, 59, 20 and 126 encroachments were in East, West, South and Dasarahalli zones, respectively.

According to the Commissioner, notices were served to 32 people for encroaching on drains in flooded areas. "Around 500 are remaining and our officials will take care of the encroachment clearance process. The CM has directed clearing of all types of encroachments. An operation has been carried out to clear encroachments in Dooda Bommasandra. Encroachments are being cleared near GD Layout," he said.

Flower decorator stabbed to death

Bengaluru: A 23-year-old flower decorator was chased and stabbed to death by three armed assailants in Byappanahalli police station limits on Friday night. The victim Satish, was a resident of Gajjana Nagar. He was into flower decoration for weddings and housewarming functions. Around 9.30 pm, he was on a two-wheeler when the accused, hiding under the flyover at Old Byappanahalli, accosted him. Sensing danger, Satish tried to flee on foot, but the accused chased and stabbed him to death. Police suspect Satish was killed over a personal matter. The Byappanahalli police have filed a case of murder.

3 suffer burns in fire after gas leak

Bengaluru: Three people -- two security guards and a woman -- sustained burns in a fire mishap, suspected to be caused by a gas leak in Yelachenahalli on Saturday morning. The injured security guards Gowtham and Mandal, and the woman is Sonu, all from Assam. The guards stay at a small room with no proper ventilation, while the woman stays in the opposite house. Police suspect that the gas could have leaked from the stove as its knob was not secured. All the three have been shifted to Victoria Hospital. The condition of one of the guards is said to be critical. The KS Layout police have registered.

Extend BMTC pass validity: Students

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING multiple appeals to extend the validity of student bus passes, college and university students on Saturday staged a protest demanding an extension.

While the academic year 2021-22 is due to end by September-end, bus passes for college and university students expired on August 31, leading many students to worry about their transport. The students had appealed for an extension to the bus passes, however, the

Bengaluru Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) allowed an extension only for final-year students and the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) allowed an extension, but also asked students to get a new pass as soon as possible. To add to the problems, examinations are to be held during September. Several hundred students protested at Freedom Park on Saturday, seeking extension across the board for all students till the end of the academic year. Previously, BMTC had offered an extension for students till August 31, but only with an additional fee.

"It will be unfair if the government imposes the burden of additional fees on students who are already in financial difficulty. Also, it is not right to victimise the students because of unfinished exams due many reasons. So, until the exams of degree, diploma, engineering and university students are over, bus passes should be extended to all students to travel for free using the existing pass," said Hayyalappa, a member of the All India Democratic Students Organisation.

MLA accuses woman of encroaching drain

THE woman, a Congress worker, approached the MLA to show some documents but in response, Limbavali can be seen shouting at her.

An unperturbed Limbavali, who was trolled on social media, said many apartments and homes were flooded and suffered damages but the woman, who is a Congress worker, created a scene to bring disrepute to him. He said he accompanied officials on Thursday as CM Basavaraj Bommai was scheduled to visit the area at 3 pm. He also accused the woman and her husband of encroaching on a storm water drain, which he said was the reason for her to raise objections to the drive.

Meanwhile, the woman alleged that she was taken to Varthur police station and a complaint was filed against her at the behest of the MLA. "I am not an encroacher. He snatched my papers and abused me. Since I am a Congress worker, he targeted me. The police are not registering any counter-complaint," she alleged.

Speaking to TNSE, Limbavali said, "Big builders and others did not create any problem and cooperated with the drive. The woman has said she is a Congress worker and this is done to damage my image. Now cases have been registered against her for encroaching drain, preventing officials from doing their duty and also under the Disaster Management Act".

Congress slammed the former minister for his remarks which he made to a private TV channel when he said, "What did I do, did I rape her?"

KPC Working President R Ramalinga Reddy said, "I have seen the video. Limbavali should not have used such language against the woman. It's common that public approach leaders with their problems and leaders should hear them out with patience and try to solve their problems". KPC president D K Shivakumar said Limbavali was unfit to be an MLA. AICC Karnataka in-charge Randeep Singh Surjewala has demanded an unconditional apology.

SEER GRILLED, UNDERGOES MEDICAL TEST

Pontiff Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru undergoes potency test, statements recorded

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chitradurga

THE police on Saturday intensified the interrogation of Murugha Mutt seer Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru, who is accused of sexually assaulting two minor girls.

On Saturday morning, after the seer had breakfast, the interrogation began and went on till afternoon. He was then taken to the district hospital for a medical test, after which, the interrogation resumed at the Deputy SP's office.

SP K Parashuram said, "With respect to accused number 1 (Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru), the medical examination was conducted (to ascertain whether he is fit to perform a sexual act). His statement has also been recorded, and interrogation is on."

Sources said the investigation officer had prepared a questionnaire for the seer.

District surgeon Dr HJ Basavarajappa told TNSE that the seer underwent potency and other tests at the district hospital. The report has been placed in a closed cover.

Samples of his hair, blood, nails, among others, which are needed for the investigation, have been collected, which will be sent to the FSL Laboratory at Madivala, Bengaluru.

A team comprising Dr Venu, Dr Ramesh, Dr Shobha and Dr Satish conducted the medical test, he said, adding that the test reports will be handed over to the investigating officer and the court in a sealed envelope.

Bail plea hearing deferred

Chitradurga: A bail application was filed by the advocates of Murugha Mutt seer Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru before the Second additional district judge BK Komala on Saturday. The court said that the seer is in police custody till Monday, and posted the hearing on that day. The court also said that it will not hear the bail application till the police custody ends on September 5, and the seer would be produced before the court at 11am on Monday. Along with the bail plea, other applications like pooja and food request will also be submitted before the court, said advocate Umesh.

Shock for visually challenged dad looking for girl

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chitradurga

A visually challenged father, who arrived at Murugha Mutt searching for his daughter on Saturday, started crying when he failed to trace her, unaware of the fact that she had been shifted to the Morarji Desai Residential School in Gulayyanahatti.

The girl was earlier staying at the Akkamahadevi hostel at Murugha Mutt.

When Muniswamy and his wife Shankariyamma learned that Murugha Mutt seer Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru had been booked under the Pocco Act, they rushed from Gauribidanur taluk to Chitradurga to search for their daughter. When they couldn't find her, Muniswamy started crying on the mutt premises, requesting the authorities to trace their daughter and hand her over. Members of the Child Welfare Committee (CWC) intervened and consoled Muniswamy, informing him that their daughter had been shifted.

Speaking to TNSE, District Child Protection Officer Lokesh said, "Thirty-seven children who were staying at the Akkamahadevi hostel of Murugha Mutt have been rescued and shifted to Morarji Desai Residential School at Gulayyanahatti in the district for the time being. They will be handed over to respective child welfare committees, who will admit them in district schools." The parents have now requested their daughter be admitted to a school in Bengaluru. Arrangements are being made to shift her, Lokesh said.

MB Patil says he'll continue to visit Murugha Mutt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Tumakuru

KPCC campaign committee chairman MB Patil clarified on Saturday that he has no qualms about visiting the Chitradurga Murugha Mutt despite investigations against mutt seer Shivamurthy Murugha Swamiji in an alleged Pocco case.

"I have been visiting the mutt, and will continue to do so. When I visit Chitradurga tomorrow, I will pay a visit to the holy tomb of Sri Jayadeva Swamiji who contributed immensely to society," he said. Union Home Minister Amit Shah, former chief minister BS Yediyurappa and Congress leader Rahul Gandhi were among prominent leaders who had visited the mutt.

"The case against the seer is in the court, and the truth will prevail," he said, adding, "As a former home minister, I feel there are lapses in the seer's case. In Pocco case, the accused should have been arrested immediately."

Patil launched his campaign for the party ahead of 2023 Assembly polls by visiting Siddaganga Mutt where he sought the blessings of Sri Siddalinga Swamiji. He exuded confidence that Congress will come back to power in Karnataka as the people are fed up with the maladministration of the double-engine government.

"The people will bless Congress keeping aside caste and creed equations in the 2023 Assembly polls," he said.

"I have been visiting the mutt, and will continue to do so. When I visit Chitradurga tomorrow, I will pay a visit to the holy tomb of Sri Jayadeva Swamiji who had contributed immensely to the society"

MB Patil, KPCC campaign committee chief

Shantinagar MLA Nalapad Ahmed Haris has been elected as the new vice-president of the All India Football Federation (AIFF) on Friday. Following the announcement, Congress workers celebrated on Ballari Main Road on Saturday evening. Later, calling upon the public to play more football, Haris said his election comes at a crucial juncture for the AIFF, which landed in a major controversy last month after FIFA banned it.

SUNDAY INTERVIEW

'We have not stopped anybody from contesting AICC elections'

RAMU PATIL

STATE Congress leaders are busy with preparations for Rahul Gandhi's "Bharat Jodo" yatra and they expect it to be a game changer for the party. Leader of Opposition in the Council and yatra coordinator in Karnataka BK Hariprasad said it will be the biggest mass mobilisation by the party after the freedom struggle and they will take up political, social and economic issues during the yatra. Excerpts.

Everything is in process. Ultimately, we have to go by what workers say. We have not stopped anybody from contesting elections. If anybody wants to fight, they are most welcome.

What are the challenges before the party?

Constitutional bodies are misused by the ruling dispensation. The biggest challenge is to protect the Constitution and fight for the democratic system. As an organisation, we have to instill confidence in our leaders and workers.

What is the idea behind Bharat Jodo yatra?

The country is at the crossroads. People who fought for freedom, democracy and the tricolour are being threatened by using constitutional institutions and those who were not part of the freedom struggle are destroying the foundations of the freedom movement by going against the Constitution, disrespecting the tricolour and not believing in the democratic processes. The idea is to create

What can Congress workers expect from the election for AICC president? Some BJP leaders termed it a sham.

There are no elections in BJP and its president is appointed by the Sangh. In Congress, we at least have all the processes. We have block returning officers, district returning officers and pradesh returning officers. Eve-

Magadi JDS MLA A Manjunath holds up a picture of the flooded Bengaluru-Mysuru highway at the party office in Bengaluru on Saturday | EXPRESS

JDS MLA: ₹800 cr scam in Bengaluru-Mysuru highway project

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

Magadi JDS MLA A Manjunath on Saturday alleged that around ₹800 crore has been swindled by officials in the Bengaluru-Mysuru highway widening project and the money might have been passed on to an elected representative. He demanded a CBI probe into the alleged scandal in building the stretch that flooded last week, sparking a row over the quality of work.

He alleged that Rs 800 crore has been distributed to somebody else against some others' name. He asked Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha, "Are you a brand ambassador for the company that is carrying out the highway works?"

He said, "Rs 80 crore has been spent per kilometre on this 119km highway. But it is being implemented unscientifically as there are no basic amenities, including drinking water, cafeteria, refueling and trauma centre, to attend to accident victims. Though the road passes through several villages, there is no provision for bullock carts to use it."

He said compensation has to be given to genuine farmers who have lost their land to the project. If not, they will sit on a dharna on the highway, he warned. The highway flooded as it is being built unscientifically. The suggestions of the NHA for the last four years have been ignored, he said. Almost all the 50 deviations along the stretch were flooded and farmers found it difficult to ride tractors and bullock carts into their farms, he said.

A delegation of JDS MLAs, led by senior leaders HD Kumaraswamy and HD Revanna, will meet Union Transport Minister Nitin Gadkari on September 7, he added.

awareness about it and take up political, social and economic issues.

Do you think the yatra will be a game changer for the party?

It is a historic padayatra. After the freedom struggle, there was no mass mobilisation of this kind in the party. Generally, we used to mobilise people for public meetings, but this will be done continuously for many days. It will enter Karnataka at Gundlupet on September 30 and cover 511 km in 21 days. Every day over 20,000 people, including party leaders and workers from different states will walk with Rahul Gandhi. On the way, he will interact with civil society members, gram panchayat members and self-help groups.

What are the major issues Congress plans to take up during the Legislature session from Sept 12?

There are many issues including serious corruption charges against the government, the collapse of law and order, recruitment scams, safety of women, failure to provide compensation to flood-affected people, landslides in Kodagu and many more.

None of the allegations against the government seems to be sticking. Why?

The contractors association which is a registered body is making serious allegations. The government should inquire into all works, including those taken up during Siddaramaiah's tenure, we have no issues with that. The home minister should have resigned by now in the recruitment scam.

Muddahanumegowda may join BJP, says BSY

Shivamogga: Senior BJP leader BS Yediyurappa on Saturday said that former Congress MP Muddahanumegowda had confided in him that he wants to join BJP. Many other leaders too are expected to join the saffron camp in the coming days, he added. Yediyurappa said the party will go to the 2023 Assembly polls under a collective leadership. Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to the state has given addional strength to the party, while there are plans to persuade Modi to visit Shivamogga and it will be a grand event, he added. On the arrest of Murugha Mutt seer, he said that since the matter is subjudice, he cannot issue a statement. Earlier, the district BJP had organised a felicitation programme in the city for Yediyurappa for becoming a member of the powerful BJP national parliamentary committee.

Bommai holds talks with Kerala CM on inter-state projects

Tumakuru: The 30th meeting of the Southern zonal council held at Thiruvananthapuram saw a breakthrough for Karnataka in resolving the inter-state water disputes besides giving a boost to the long pending projects related to railways and ports. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai held formal talks with his Kerala counterpart Pinarayi Vijayan on the sidelines of the meeting which was chaired by Union Home Minister Amit Shah. "Bommai discussed with Pinarayi about railway projects and it will help the expansion of the network between the states," a source told TNSE. The issues related to the water disputes with the neighbouring Telangana nad Andhra Pradesh also came up for discussion with the representatives of the respective states. It was unclear if Bommai spoke to his Tamil Nadu counterpart MK Stalin regarding the disputes between the two states.

Govt to award best staffers on September 6

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE state government will confer Sarvottoma Seva awards on 30 of its best employees. The award, which will be presented by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai at Vidhana Soudha on September 6, carries a cash reward of Rs 50,000. The ceremony was suspended in 2020-21 due to the pandemic and the 10 employees who were chosen then will also be presented with the awards, including a cash prize of Rs 25,000 cash and a memento. The reward amount was increased this year.

Karnataka State Government Employees' Association president CS Shadakshari told TNSE that DCs from each district had sent a list of recommended employees, while employees too could apply themselves. "The government received over 300 applications. A committee comprising chief secretary, additional chief secretaries and DPAR secretary narrowed down the list to 30," he added.

CT Ravi hints at political realignment

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hubballi

BJP national general secretary CT Ravi has predicted another round of political realignment after the Gujarat and Himachal Pradesh assembly poll results in December this year.

Ravi told media persons that the plight of the opposition, especially the Congress, is helping BJP to gain strength. Ridiculing the 'Bharat Jodo' campaign under the leadership of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, he said, "While the party was busy in 'Jodo' campaign, party leaders were engaged in Congress Chodo. The top leadership should keep their flock together rather than thinking about the country."

The statements of those who have deserted the Congress, shows that the party lacks ideology, leadership, and integrity, he said, adding that it has no political strategy, and has become leaderless nationally.

Regarding the Bharat Jodo campaign, Ravi said, "PM Narendra Modi has already done that. Modi had brought the entire country together in the fight against the Covid-19, and his call to hoist the Tricolour as part of Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav," he asserted.

Countering Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's barb likening BJP to a serial killer, he said, "The party which was born out of agitation against corruption is embroiled in irregularities. To save their skin, they are making baseless allegations."

Reacting to rumours that BJP leaders will cross over to Congress, he said that more Congress leaders are expected to join the saffron party after December this year.

Boundary dispute: Maharashtra better placed to argue case

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

THE long-drawn boundary dispute between Karnataka and Maharashtra is likely to be resolved finally when a three-judge bench of the Supreme Court takes up the final hearing of the matter on November 23.

While Maharashtra is fully prepared to assert its stand when the case comes up for hearing in November, Karnataka is yet to put up a strong position in the case. The Border Protection Committee of the state government is defunct, and no one has been named as minister in-charge of the boundary dispute since 2018. But Maharashtra has a high-powered committee headed by the chief minister besides a minister in-charge for the boundary.

Sources said the state government is yet to strengthen its legal team to take up the case in the Supreme Court.

Several activists, including the chairman of Kannada Organisations Action Committee Ashok Chandargi, feel that the state government should hold an all-party meeting, and consult experts and leaders of various organisations to bol-

CPM scuttled Magsaysay for Shailaja

ANIL S @T'Puram

THE CPM may have committed its second "historical blunder", after turning down the Prime Minister's award for veteran leader Jyoti Basu two decades ago. It has scuttled the chance of former health minister and senior CPM leader K K Shailaja winning the prestigious Ramon Magsaysay Award for 2022.

It has been learnt that the Ramon Magsaysay Award Foundation had zeroed in on Shailaja for the 64th Magsaysay award for her commitment and service towards ensuring an accessible public health system and effectively leading from the front to manage the Nipah and Covid-19 outbreaks in the state. Kerala had won global recognition for its effective handling of the Nipah outbreak and the Covid pandemic during her tenure.

Highly placed sources in the national capital told TNIE that the foundation first verified with Shailaja during an online interaction and later intimated her of the award, towards the end of July. In its e-mail to the former minister, notifying her of being selected for the international honour, the foundation asked her to convey her willingness to accept the award, in writing.

It's reliably learnt that Shailaja, being a central committee member of the CPM, consulted the party leadership about the same. The leadership looked at different aspects of the award, and decided against her accepting the same. The party felt that as health minister, Shailaja was merely doing her duty entrusted to her by the party. In addition, the state's efforts in fighting the Nipah outbreak and the Covid pandemic were part of a collective movement and therefore she need not accept the award in her individual capacity. Following this,

Shailaja wrote to the foundation expressing her inability to accept the award.

As mud houses crumble in rain, villagers take shelter at temples

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @Gadag

BATTERED by the incessant rains, residents of Dambal and surrounding villages are taking shelter at temples and other safer places as their houses built of mud are collapsing. Some have put tents in their fields. Hundreds of houses are in a dilapidated condition following heavy rains for the last three days.

Due to the continuous pouring, the walls are turning wet and are collapsing partially and also fully in Dambal and surrounding villages, which are at the foothill of the Kappataguda hillock. So these areas have received more heavy rains compared to other parts of the district. Villagers are spending their days and nights in a state of fear. Three houses completely collapsed on Thursday and Friday. Hundreds of houses are in dilapidated condition.

Villagers said, "We are in fear as the walls may collapse anytime. Some villagers have already gone to their relatives' houses in other villages, cities, and towns. Some others are living in temples, fields, and other houses which are safe in the village. We request the officials concerned to help the villagers as soon as possible".

Difficult time for rights work now: Aakar Patel

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

JOURNALIST and author Aakar Patel on Saturday commented that it has become difficult to conduct ordinary human rights work in India now.

Speaking at a panel discussion on 'Criminalisation of Activism', organised jointly by the All-India Lawyers' Association for Justice, People's Union for Civil Liberties and Association for Protection of Civil Rights, he said the state has stopped recognising rights under Article 19. "In Bengaluru, we can only gather at Freedom Park, which is not the way the Article sees it," he said.

On the Directorate of Enforcement and Central Bureau of Investigation cases filed against him and Amnesty International India, of which he was the director, he said the government does not want to follow the law.

"Government's malice is very high, while its competence is very low. So when they go after you, they don't necessarily want to follow the law," he said.

"We are faced with a large number of cases, all linked to the fact that the government doesn't want us to work on things like Kashmir or mining. Many organisations have stopped working on these issues. You cannot go up against the government without facing the wrath of the state," he said.

INS Vikrant may be berthed near Chennai

Chennai: India's first indigenously developed and built aircraft carrier INS Vikrant, which was dedicated to the nation by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in Kochi on Friday, is likely to be berthed at Kattupalli Port near Chennai for nearly eight years due to lack of adequate infrastructure in Visakhapatnam. The 262-metre-long and 62-metre-wide warship will eventually be based at the Eastern Naval Command headquarters in Visakhapatnam. The interim arrangement will continue till a new base, currently being developed to host the carrier in Visakhapatnam, is ready for use. ENS

'Raid politics' won't work in TS, says KCR

Hyderabad: Suspecting that the BJP-led Centre might use its agencies against its opponents in the State, TRS president K Chandrasekhar Rao reportedly said there was no need for TRS leaders to fear the threats of the Enforcement Directorate (ED) or CBI. While recalling how the BJP targeted its political opponents RJD, Shiv Sena and AAP, Rao reportedly asked MLAs, MLCs and MPs to be cautious. Rao, however, averred that the BJP's typical politics would not work in Telangana like in other States. ENS

Loco pilots had gone on leave for exam

SHE said most of the people appearing for the exam are loco pilots who are on leave and hence the trains have been cancelled. The train services are expected to resume from Monday "The idea to cancel the trains and schedule the exam over the weekend is because office-goers and college students are much less in numbers during the weekend and hence the impact of the cancellation would be less," said the official.

She also stated that the KSRTC and BMTC were told in advance to introduce additional buses over the weekend to compensate for the absence of trains. Sandeep Anirudha, convener, Bengaluru Agenda for Mobility said, "It shows their irresponsible behaviour. Many people will show up at railway stations only to be told that the trains are cancelled".

Most of the trains that have been cancelled ply from Bengaluru to Tumkur, Ramnagar, Hubballi, Hosapete, Shivamogga, Bangarpet, Whitefield, Mysuru, Chamarajanagar and Vijayapura. Four other trains have also been cancelled/regulated/rescheduled due to a line block for technical works between Saunshi and Hubballi.

PUTIN'S RUSSIA, SANCTIONS AND GLOBAL PAIN

ON Thursday, the dollar index, which illuminates global financial conditions, touched a record high of 109.98. It has appreciated nearly 14 per cent in six months. In its wake the Japanese yen is yo-yoing at a record low of 141 to the dollar, the euro hovering around 99, the sterling teetering at 1.15 and the rupee is testing levels of 80 to the dollar. In sharp contrast, and ironically, the one currency which has done well is the Russian rouble, which has appreciated from 104 to 60 roubles for a dollar since February.

The factoid illustrates how the doctrine of economic sanctions as an instrument of deterrence has impacted Russia and the world. The war in Ukraine is now 192 days old and continues unabated. Over 9 million Ukrainians are estimated to have been forced to flee since February 24. The death toll depends on who is telling the story and is in the tens of thousands. It is unclear if there will be a winner! What is clear and indisputable is that the cost of sanctions has resulted in the globalisation of pain.

The inadequacy of sanctions and how they played out on Russia and other countries is reflected in the IMF's July review of global growth. The IMF trimmed global growth from 3.6 per cent in April to 3.2 per cent, downgrading growth in all major economies, including the US, the UK, Germany, France, Canada, Japan, Italy, Spain and India. The notable exception: Russia – its GDP growth was upgraded by 2.5 per cent. Indeed, IMF Chief Economist Pierre-Olivier Gourinchas explained that higher energy prices kept Russia afloat despite Western sanctions.

The sanctions were defined in superlatives – as 'unprecedented' and 'like none the world had seen before' – and were imposed by the US, EU, and other NATO allies within hours of the launch of Russia's 'special military operation'. A parade of punitive measures followed, triggering the weaponisation of trade and finance. For the global economy, just recovering from the pandemic and burdened by the excesses of easy money, it was verily the exacerbating last straw. The consequence is manifest in the food, fuel and cost of living crisis haunting developed and developing economies.

The price of natural gas in Europe is now estimated to stay around $ 500 per barrel of oil equivalent. Household energy bills in the UK could shoot up five times to 5000 pounds a year. Gasoline prices across the world are fuelling rhetoric and rage. Countries are scampering to install LNG terminals, seek new supplies of gas and extend the lifespan of nuclear power plants. Emerging economies – particularly net importers of energy such as India – face the double whammy of imported inflation and widening current account deficits.

The irony of ironies is that as the world struggles with the energy crisis, Russia's earnings from fuel exports are expected to shoot up by 38 per cent to over $ 347 billion. Thanks to the opportunity created by sanctions, higher volume of exports of fuels and rising prices. Indeed, Russia is said to be considering parking its surplus earnings from energy exports, as much as $ 70 billion, in the Chinese Yuan.

On Friday, the Group of Seven (G7) Finance Ministers came up with another round of measures. They agreed "to impose a price cap on Russian oil aimed at slashing revenues for Moscow's war in Ukraine while avoiding price spikes." The critical details – on which countries are willing and what the per barrel price cap would be – are yet to be decided. In effect, the contours and content of this grand measure are just as vague as the idea itself.

Newton's law predicates every action triggers an opposite, even if not an equal reaction. Almost on cue, Russian energy behemoth Gazprom has declared that the supply of natural gas through the key pipeline Nord Stream will not be resumed due to 'technical problems'. The implications are dire. The IMF's World Outlook of July cautioned that "A complete cessation of exports of Russian gas to European economies in 2022 would significantly increase inflation worldwide through higher energy prices".

It is true that Russia's action of invading Ukraine demanded a response from the global community of nations. Equally, it is also worth considering that previous episodes of sanctions have not yielded the intended results. It cannot be that the dependence of Europe on Russia for energy was unknown. Nor is it a mystery that Russia and Ukraine formed a large part of the global food basket. The harsh fact is that in an inter-dependent globalised economy, measures such as sanctions are ineffective against major trading nations.

It has been argued, and there is much lather about it, that sanctions will eventually debilitate Russia and its war machine. Eventually! The phrase eventually has a seductive allure for the long term. The here and now fact is that sanctions have been less than effective and have got the global economy on the edge of a recession. More pertinently, as this column has argued, the fracturing of the global economic architecture emboldens China and weakens the rule-based world order.

The voting pattern in the United Nations, particularly on Russia's invasion reveals fault lines. What is persuasive for some is not as persuasive for many. The global economy is a far more complex space than when sanctions were first conceived. The experience of the past and of the last six months calls for a re-think on the idea of sanctions as an instrument of deterrence. There is nothing like context to clarify the question. Can sanctions be the answer if China moves on with its ambitions to annex Taiwan?

OPPOSITION NEEDS KINGMAKER TO FIGHT THE KING

POWER & POLITICS

THE King is dead. Long live the kingmakers. If there is a contradiction in continuity, this metonymy summarises the paradox of the Opposition's relevance in the fractured architecture of national ambition. Once dominated by giants, their era long faded, the Opposition today comprises a cabal of self-proclaimed monarchs confined to the geographical limitations of their charisma. Meanwhile, the imperium of Prime Minister Narendra Modi expands in strength and size. No regional political dynast or diwan has the moxie to storm the saffron citadel individually. But the seduction of power is such that they see hope in mirages, especially as the clock keeps ticking towards Mandate 2024. The Modi Monolith has brought the moment of reckoning to the Opposition leadership—a third wave will tear their political survival and silence their say in Indian democracy. As Modi's declared aim of a Congress Mukht Bharat acquires momentum, an unwelcome side effect is an almost national Opposition-free India. Plagued by internal factions, rampant corruption and nepotism, its netas are sitting ducks for the agencies, becoming ED fodder; going to jail or simply choosing the haven of the ruling party's conditional sanctuary. However, even on the darkest days, a little sunshine must fall. There are a few powerful regional leaders who are still in play. Divided, they have fallen. They are yet to unite to rise again.

Last week's headlines belonged to Telangana Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao's attempts at Opposition unity. He flew to Patna to meet his Bihar counterpart Nitish Kumar who bid farewell to his BJP ally—his second adieu. Both netas like to be perceived as potential PMs, although they avoid the mentions. Ostensibly, they are concerned about the Opposition's future, which includes them unsaid. Nitish's new rhetorical plank is a "Main front", whatever that means. For the past few months, Sonia Gandhi, Sharad Pawar, M K Stalin, Mamata Banerjee, Arvind Kejriwal and such have been meeting in groups to explore creating a viable and credible alternative to the BJP. But the amiable platform of pan-ideological amalgamation—as it happened against Rajiv when leaders of 18 regional and national parties came together in Chennai—remains elusive.

The Opposition's plight is best described as a hard dose of unreality. Each neta wishes to replace Modi more than to place the other at the helm. Foremost among them are Mamata, KCR and Kejriwal; the Congress party isn't in their viewfinder. Pawar, Lalu and Stalin are pitching for a united non-BJP Opposition based on the "Bhappa Bhagao, Bharat Bachao" slogan. They are coy about naming the Prime Ministerial face to avoid fissures and division of votes. The explanation: the leader of the government will only be chosen after the election is won. Quoted is the 2004 precedent when there was scant chance of defeating Vajpayee's BJP, but didn't the voters switch off the lights on India Shining? Historically, the Prime Minister is chosen by players with skin in the game but aren't in the game for themselves. Jayaprakash Narayan's moral authority enabled him to impose Morarji Desai over Charan Singh in 1977. Chief Ministers ignored Chandrashekar's claim favouring V P Singh because none of them had demanded the top job. I K Gujral and H D Deve Gowda were picked by M Karunanidhi, Chandrababu Naidu and Harkishan Singh Surjeet. Political scuttlebutt says Stalin, aided by Pawar, is the only regional leader with the mojo to be the kingmaker; like his father Karunanidhi was. Since no non-BJP government can be formed without Congress support, he is the only bridge that unites the not-so-Grand Old Party and the non-saffron political spectrum. Ambitious pretenders who conspired and aspired to become kings have always drawn the short straw in history, with a few notable exceptions like Indira and Modi. History shows that the leader who hasn't, at least publicly, hankered for the top position becomes the kingmaker instead of a mere king. This proxy power politics started soon after Independence when Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru became the Prime Minister. He was suave, cosmopolitan, educated at Harrow and Cambridge, but also a dyed in khadi Congressman. He was the perfect PM candidate for the Congress party's Brahminical and elitist leadership. Though Acharya Kripalani was the party President then, it was Mahatma Gandhi who had the final say in choosing his protégé as India's Prime Minister.

After Panditji's death in 1964, many senior Congress leaders vied to replace him, but a South Indian leader who couldn't speak proper English or a word of Hindi influenced the selection of the next two Prime Ministers—Lal Bahadur Shastri and Indira Gandhi. On October 2, 1963, K Kamaraj, the three term Congress Chief Minister of the Madras province, resigned and became the Congress president to spearhead the Kamaraj Plan. Nehru was already ailing, and he was running the party. When Nehru died in May 1964, Gulzarilal Nanda became the interim PM. However, it was Kamaraj's Machiavellian mechanism that made the short statured Lal Bahadur Shastri the legate of the tallest Congressman of the time, Nehru. Kamaraj succeeded in imposing his wish on Desai, Jagjivan Ram and others because he wasn't a PM aspirant himself. When Shastri died in Tashkent a year later, Kamaraj pulled out his chess board again. He opposed anyone in the Old Guard succeeding Shastri. He backed Indira, thus acquiring the tag of the kingmaker. However, the Congress queen was to oust the kingmaker soon. It was the second double role for the Nehrus, both as monarch and kingmaker. Almost two decades later, the kingmakers were back in action after Rajiv Gandhi's assassination. When Sonia refused the party's reins, it wasn't a usual suspect who got the sceptre. Pranab Mukherjee, Arjun Singh, N D Tiwari, et al. were eyeing both the party presidency and the Prime Minister's chair. K. Karunakaran, an old fox from Kerala and fervent Gandhi loyalist, convinced them to accept PV Narasimha Rao as the Congress president. Incidentally, Rajiv had sent Rao into the political desert by denying him seats in either House of parliament. Rao remained the King but couldn't become a kingmaker, having been unceremoniously ousted after the Congress lost the elections. Sonia became the kingmaker and continues to hold the bridle of the party, which doesn't have enough soldiers to fight for even a notional political kingdom. The law of averages has forced average leadership to prevail in Congress. Yet an alternative without it is a non-starter. But the Opposition, which includes the Congress, needs a king who can unify the smaller kingdoms. To find a match for Modi, the united Opposition must first choose the kingmaker and then the King. Only then can it overcome its fatal leadership conflicts and declare that the Opposition is dead, long live the Opposition.

PREDICTING THE INDIA GROWTH STORY IN 2047

BIBEK DEBROY
Chairman, Economic Advisory Council to the PM

THE Institute for Competitive-ness (IFC) has just (August 30) launched a report titled 'Competitiveness Roadmap for India@100'. It was launched in collaboration with EAC-PM (Economic Advisory Council to the Prime Minister). It is not an EAC-PM report. The report is IFC's, using Michael Porter's framework for analysing competitiveness. I will not get into the report. It is there on both IFC and EAC-PM websites. India is in the midst of celebrating its 75th year of Independence and Amrit Kaal, which means setting a template for the next 25 years, leading up to the 100th year of Independence. Twenty five years ago, it was 1997. If we cast our minds back, in 1997, it would have been impossible for anyone to fully anticipate or predict changes and transformations that India has been through in the last twenty five years. It is no different in 2022. At best, there are some trends. Right now, there is a considerable amount of volatility and uncertainty in the global economy, especially in the USA, Europe and China. It is impossible for India to be isolated from this. Many years ago, in 1624, John Donne wrote, "No man is an island entire of itself; every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main; if a clod be washed away by the sea, Europe is the less." No economy, not even North Korea, is an island either. However, if the eye is cast towards a future that is twenty five years down the line, it is important not to get bogged down in the immediate and the transient.

In 2003, Goldman Sachs produced a report titled 'Dreaming with BRICs: The Path to 2050', authored by Dominic Wilson and Roopa Purushothaman. That helped popularise the BRICS (Brazil, Russia, India, China, South Africa) acronym, a group of five very disparate economies. Around 2047 (the report had a figure for 2045), it projected an Indian per capita income of just over 12,000 US dollars and an aggregate size of the Indian economy of just over 18 trillion US dollars. Expressions like "developed" economies have gone out of fashion now, though the "developing" country status still exists under WTO. Instead, the World Bank uses classifications like low income, lower middle income, upper middle income and high income. The threshold for moving from upper middle income to high income is 12,695 US dollars. Whenever one makes projections like this, there are real growth, inflation and exchange rate changes. Since inflation is a nuisance to project, projections are typically done in today's dollars. Hence, the figure I have cited needs to be matched against a current Indian per capita income of around 2,000 US dollars. That jump, from 2,000 to something like 12,000, leads to transformations and socio-economic churn impossible to fathom today.

Compared to expectations today, Goldman Sachs assumed a rather modest real rate of growth for India, till 2050. The range was 5% to 6%, with an average of something like 5.5%. Expectations and aspirations change. If India grows at 5.5% now, gloom and doom will descend. The remaining contribution resulted from appreciation in the real exchange rate vis-à-vis the dollar (when a country does relatively well, its currency appreciates), productivity changes and the sheer nature of the exponential function. Often, we fail to appreciate the power of the exponential function, typified in the apocryphal story about the invention of chess by a minister. Pleased at this new game, the king requested the minister to ask for a boon. The minister asked for one grain of wheat for the first square, double for the second square, double that for the third square and so on, until all 64 squares were covered. No kingdom would have been able to provide those many grains of wheat. There is consensus that India's real growth will be between 7% and 7.5% in 2023-24. Sure, the global economic environment is relatively more benign and uncertain, compared to earlier decades, when many countries used exports as an engine to drive growth. Of course, over time, international trade has become more complicated and trade is intricately linked to cross-border investments. Had the global environment been more benign, an aspirational real growth would probably have been 8.5% or 9%, not 7%.

The question can never be posed in a different way. Is there sufficient steam in the other three drivers of growth (consumption, investment and government expenditure) to ensure between 7% and 7.5%? That requires efficient labour, land and capital markets, largely a state government function. It requires states to increase their GSDP (gross state domestic product) growth rates, since all-India growth is almost entirely a function of how states grow. It requires higher labour force participation and better outcomes in health and education. It requires more efficient public expenditure and the right level of government at which that expenditure occurs. It requires transformations—rural to urban, self-employment to wage-based, informal to formal, and away from agriculture, at least away from food-grain-based farming. Having said this, any projection done must recognise that 7.5% growth will not sustain, irrespective of what happens globally. As one moves higher up the development ladder, even if that growth is driven by endogenous factors, growth slows. With those qualifications, depending on assumptions, any calculator will exhibit the power of the exponential function. Before Covid, the Economic Survey had some projections for the $5 trillion GDP target. The pandemic means two years have been knocked off the development trajectory. Nevertheless, a calculator will show that by 2047, we should reach a per capita income of around 10,000 US dollars (not 12,000) and an aggregate GDP of almost $20 trillion. GDP is not an end in itself. It is correlated with higher levels of human development, lower poverty, higher employment and so on.

While we should proud feel India made INS Vikrant has joined Indian Navy and while commissioning

The focus on Maratha kings seems too much as it gives a political colour on Maharashtra politics after the breaking of Shiv Sena. India's maritime history is as old as Indian civilization. Much before Shivaji kings from south India also had a major contribution in our coastal region.

Sanjeevani — from legend to cultivation at Himalayas

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@ New Delhi

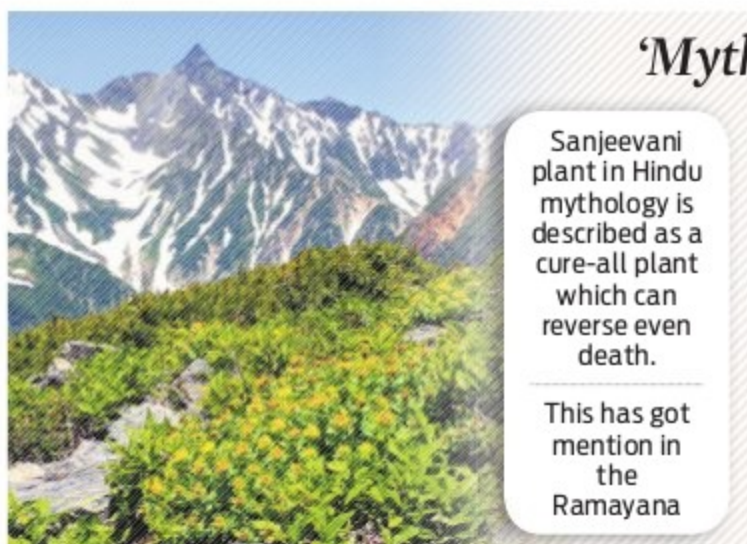

AS legend goes, Hanuman couldn't readily identify the Sanjeevani Booti, the life-saving medicinal herb, on Dronagiri, the Himalayan mountain. So, he plucked the mountain and flew back to Lanka. He wouldn't have to do that today.

The life-saving medicinal herb, Selaginella bryopteris, is not only easily identifiable, but its location can now be pinpointed to the nearest metre.

The government intends to launch commercial cultivation of the herb in the Himalayas. In Ladakh, to be precise. The programme is being handled by the local administration in Ladakh.

The herb, whose life-reviving properties are well advertised in India through the Ramayana, is said to restore life even of the comatose. The true potency will of course be revealed once the administration comes out with its research.

The Leh-based lab of the De-

'Mythological medicine'

Sanjeevani plant in Hindu mythology is described as a cure-all plant which can reverse even death.

This has got mention in the Ramayana

Lord Hanuman had brought this herb from Dronagiri mountain

Govt intends to launch commercial cultivation of the herb in Himalayas fence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO), the world's highest agro-animal research laboratory, has been researching on this wonder plant for more than a decade. The Lieutenant Governor of Ladakh recently shared the information with Union Minister of State for Science and Technology Dr Jitendra Singh on a visit to Delhi.

It's not just Sanjeevani Booti.

Two other medicinal plants will also be commercially produced. In the days when Ram was desperate to treat brother Laxman with the Sanjeevani Booti after he was felled unconscious by Ravan's son, the medicinal herb was apparently located in the Dronagiri Mountain. The mountain is said to be close to the Chinese border. The herb has a peculiar feature. It is seen at heights of over 15,000 feet. And it grows only at night, at least that is what's mythologically known. The fact will come out when the production is launched.

A statement released by the ministry gives some additional details: "The Sanjeevani booti is in local parlance in Ladakh region known as 'Sola'. It has a very high life saving and therapeutic properties."

Besides this initiative, Ladakh is all set to have India's first 'Night Sky Sanctuary' in the premises of the Changthang Wildlife Sanctuary. It will have all facilities to enable people to gaze at the night sky and enjoy watching the stars.

It will be situated in Hinde village, which is famous for the 17th century Hanle monastery. Hanle is best suited because it is located in Ladakh's cold desert region, away from the hustle and bustle of human activity. The site will be the highest-located in the world for optical and gamma-ray telescopic viewing of the sky at night.

The Department of Science and Technology is spearheading this programme to boost astro-tourism. "This will be set up in next three months in first of its kind unique initiative started by department," a ministry statement said. A tripartite agreement was recently signed between the UT administration, Ladakh Autonomous Hill Development Council and the Indian Institute of Astrophysics.

1-yr celebration to mark 1947 merger of Hyd

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE Centre has planned a year-long celebration — Hyderabad State Liberation — starting September 17 to honour the 'sacrifices made by the previous generations' for the merger of princely state Hyderabad with the Indian Union.

Referring to the role of the first home minister of India Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel and 'Operation Polo' in the annexing, Union Culture Minister G Kishan Reddy on Saturday invited chief ministers of three states — Basavaraj Somappa Bommai (Karnataka), K Chandrashekar Rao (Telangana) and Eknath Shinde (Maharashtra) to attend the inaugural day of celebration as the guests of honour. The event will take place at Parade Ground in Hyderabad on September 17.

Reddy also requested them to hold events across the state on the day. "I would also request you to identify events and commemorations throughout the year and share these plans with the Government of India so that a holistic approach can be taken in planning the yearlong commemorations," Reddy wrote in the letter to the three CMs.

Union Home Minister Amit Shah will be the chief guest on the occasion. Reddy, in the letter, also said that when India became independent in 1947, although 562 princely states announced the merger into the Indian Union, there was resistance from the erstwhile state of Hyderabad. "On 17th September 1948, more than one year after India secured Independence from the British, the erstwhile state of Hyderabad, comprising the entire state of Telangana and some districts in Maharashtra and Karnataka, got independence from the brutality and tyranny of the Nizam's rule. This was possible due to the swift and timely action of Shri Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel under Operation Polo," read Reddy's statement.

After Hyderabad refused to join the Union of India, a 'police action' referred as Operation Polo was initiated by the Indian Army in the state on September 13, 1948, which ended on September 17 leading to the merger. "I am happy to inform you that the Government of India, after careful consideration of the various aspects, decided to celebrate 75 years of Hyderabad State Liberation. The objective is to make the current generation, both from the region under consideration and the rest of India, aware of the story of resistance, valour, and sacrifice," Reddy said.

BILATERAL TIES

Tripura likely to figure in Modi-Hasina meet next wk

AGARTALA: Bangladesh's objections to set up an Integrated Check Post (ICP) and other issues concerning Tripura are likely to be discussed when the neighbouring country's Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina will meet her Indian counterpart Narendra Modi next week in Delhi, an official said.

Hasina will be on a four-day visit to India starting September 5 with a focus on strengthening the "multifaceted" bilateral ties. Her meeting with Modi is scheduled for the next day.

"Due to objections from the Bangladesh side, construction of ICP in South Tripura's Muhurighat could not be made. The prime minister (Modi) has agreed to take up the issue with his Bangladesh counterpart during her visit," Special Secretary of Industries and Commerce, Abhishek Chandra, told a press conference here. An Integrated Check Post is an entry and exit point on the international border, which has facilities such as immigration and customs.

Chandra said that the 'Maitri Setu' (bridge) over the Feni river was inaugurated by Modi on March, 9, last year to support the port connectivity with Chittagong in Bangladesh. PTI

Wildlife crime goes digital, WCCB increases vigilance

SUMIT KUMAR SINGH @ New Delhi

INDIAN law enforcement agencies have enhanced online wildlife crime patrolling as traffickers have found new ways to connect with potential buyers — encrypted online or undetected transactions.

This year so far, around 50 cases of online wildlife illegal trade have been detected mostly trafficking of elephant ivory, pangolin scales and exotic pets. Further, 300 instances for sale of sea cucumbers on online portals were detected by Wildlife Crime Control Bureau (WCCB), India's federal law enforcement agency dealing with illegal trade of endangered species. WCCB swung into action and initiated an investigation in the matter.

Evidence was gathered by the Cyber Cell of WCCB. It was found that there were a total 335 listings on the portal out of which 22 listings were from India. The details of sellers and persons were collected which owns and manages the online platforms and thereafter action was immediately taken.

The rampant use of online platforms for illegal trafficking of wildlife species propelled WCCB to enhance its capability to curb the illegal trade of the species.

'50 cases of online wildlife smuggling'

This year so far, around 50 cases of online wildlife illegal trade have been detected mostly trafficking of elephant ivory, pangolin scales and exotic pets. Further, 300 instances for sale of sea cucumbers on online portals were detected by Wildlife Crime Control Bureau

Express, the WCCB Additional Director HB Girisha said, "WCCB working with online portals and social media platforms to develop a consensus to tackle online illegal wildlife trade. As per consensus, WCCB shared a list of key words and code words used for trading in wild species, articles and derivatives as detected at various trade portals and social media platforms and simultaneously an awareness campaign was run on their web pages to sensitize online users with respect to illegal wildlife trade."

He said that in India most of the accused involved in online wildlife crime were first time offenders; mostly influenced by videos about illegal wildlife trade to make quick money on social media platforms.

INS Vikrant brings to light govt focus on speedy indigenisation

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE commissioning of Indigenous Aircraft Carrier (IAC) as the INS Vikrant on Friday was an important milestone in India's push to modernisation of the Indian Military with indigenous armaments and other systems. The approval for indigenous Light Combat Aircraft (Mark II) on last Wednesday and steps like phased ban on imports of foreign manufactured military goods and more has shown that the government is focussed on speedy indigenisation of hardware for Indian armed forces.

The Defence Acquisition Council, which is the highest decision-making body of the government, has approved ₹10,000 crore for the manufacturing of more advanced and potent Light Combat Aircraft Mk II. "It will have a powerful engine, better avionics and electronics and capacity to carry a bigger payload," a defence source said. Its prototype is expected to be out in two years with 2028 set as the timeline for production to begin.

Another way the government decided to push for indigenous production and minimising defence imports by Defence Public Sector Undertakings (DPSUs) was by making public the third Positive Indigenisation List (PIL) of 780 strategically important Line Replacement Units (LRUs)/Sub-systems/Components with a timeline beyond which they will only be procured from the domestic industry. The Defence Minister approved the same on August 28.

India-France to develop helicopter engine

The production of engines has been the sore point in India's Military Industrial production story. Talks have been going on to produce jet engines jointly with a foreign manufacturer. In an important step Indian DPSU Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL) and France's Safran Helicopter Engines in July inked an agreement for a new joint venture to develop helicopter engines. "The new aero-engine company in India will be dedicated to the development, production, sales and support of helicopter engines, and one of its main objectives will be to meet the requirements of HAL and defence ministry's future helicopters," a statement from HAL said.

South Council sorts 9 out of 26 key issues

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Southern Zonal Council, which met under the chairmanship of Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Saturday at Thiruvananthapuram, could resolve only nine of 26 issues between the southern states while discussions over 17 were deferred for later consideration.

The reorganisation of Andhra Pradesh figured among the unresolved issues, a Home Ministry statement said, adding that Shah urged officials of this state and Telangana to settle "pending issues".

The 30th meeting of the Southern Zonal Council was attended by the chief ministers of Kerala, Karnataka and Tamil Nadu, and the Lieutenant Governors of Puducherry, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, the Administrator of Lakshadweep, chief secretaries of the Southern Zonal Council states, Union Home Secretary Ajay Bhalla, Secretary to the Interstate Council Secretariat and other senior officials of central and state ministries and departments.

'Shankaracharya statue moved PM & I got Netaji assignment'

SCULPTOR Arun Yogiraj (39), rose to fame with his 12-feet tall idol of Adi Shankaracharya. Laurels bagged him another significant project of national importance — statue of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose, which is to be placed under the canopy at India Gate. Parvez Sultan spoke to the young artist. Excerpts:

How did you learn sculpting?

I learnt it while playing. I started working on stones when I was 11. After observing my inclination towards sculpture making, my family persuaded me to learn what my forefathers had been doing for 250 years. I am a fifth-generation sculptor. What was your first independent work? It was in 2005, my father was out for a week. A customer wanted an idol of Swami Ayyappa. He couldn't wait. Artisans working with us were also not available. Because of the pressing demand of the customer, I decided to sculpt. It was a two-foot idol. That was the turning point; it motivated me to take up sculpting as a full-time job.

How did you get the opportunity to make the idol of Adi Guru Shankaracharya?

I got a call from the head of the department of virtual art, Kannada University, Hampi. He was aware of my work. The professor sought pictures of idols made by me but didn't explain anything. After a few weeks, I was informed that someone from JSW Group, which had entered into a pact with the Uttarakhand government for reconstruction and restoration of some sites in Kedarnath would talk to me. That is how I was selected to make an idol of Adi Guru Shankaracharya.

And the story of Subhas Chandra Bose statue assignment?

The PM liked Adi Shankaracharya idol very much after which I was supposed to meet him. But no date was fixed. In between, I was invited to attend a video conference organised by the culture ministry in which 7-8 other artists were also present. PM Modi has already announced the plan to install a Bose statue at India Gate canopy.

The meeting with culture ministry officials ended on a positive note. Subsequently, the date for the meeting with the PM was communicated to me and I started working on a two-foot Bose statue on my own, which I presented to the PM in April. After the meeting, came another piece of good news; I was given the assignment of national importance; statue of Bose.

Nitish, BJP spar over Manipur MLAs

CM hints at poaching by saffron party, Sushil Modi claims Bihar will soon be JD(U) free

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

A day after five of the six JD(U) MLAs joined the BJP in Manipur, Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Saturday came down heavily on his former ally, questioning propriety and constitutionality of the "poaching by the saffron party".

"It is proper? Is it constitutional? Is it in line with established norms? They are doing so everywhere. So I must say that all Opposition parties should unite and fight against BJP together in 2024 Lok Sabha elections," Nitish told reporters on the sidelines of the first day of the two-day meeting of the party's national executive and national council.

BJP leader and former Bihar deputy chief minister Sushil Kumar Modi, however, said that Bihar would soon be "JD(U)-RJD free". "Nitish Kumar joined the Mahagathbandhan by insulting people's mandate," he remarked.

Bihar BJP chief Sanjay Jaiswal claimed that the "Manipur episode would repeat in Bihar soon". "Manipur has become JD(U) free after the merger of its five MLAs. Similarly, a number of leaders and MLAs of JD(U) will leave the party in Bihar," he said.

Nitish said all the JD(U) MLAs from Manipur had confirmed that they would participate in the meeting scheduled to be held in Patna. "However, what happened there (Manipur) is no more a secret," he said and added that what the BJP did was not in good taste.

Nitish said when the JD(U) parted ways with the NDA and joined hands with the Mahagathbandhan, all the six MLAs from Manipur came to Patna and met them. They also expressed their solidarity with the party's decision. "All of them assured us that they were with the JD(U). But they were win over in less than a month," he said, in an oblique reference to alleged horse-trading in Manipur.

Expressing his displeasure over Manipur development, the Bihar CM said that the people were watching the BJP's behaviour. "The scene would entirely be different in 2024 Lok Sabha elections if Opposition parties fought unitedly against the saffron party."

On August 25, the lone JD(U) MLA from Arunachal Pradesh, Teeki Kaso, also joined BJP in presence of JP Nadda and CM Pema Khandu, with which the BJP now has 39 MLAs out of 60 assembly seats. JD(U) sources said that Nitish would leave for New Delhi on September 5 and meet some leaders, including those from the Congress. Though there is no official confirmation about Nitish's proposed visit, sources said that he would meet "leaders of like-minded parties in Haryana and Rajasthan".

Cong to move court against MLAs' 'merger'

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

The Congress in Manipur is planning to challenge the "merger" of five of the six Janata Dal-United MLAs with the ruling BJP in the state in court. Calling the MLAs' act "unconstitutional," the Congress said it attracts disqualification under the 10th Schedule of the Constitution (anti-defection law).

"Para 2 and 4, particularly para 4, of the Tenth Schedule of the Constitution say there will not be disqualification in case of merger but it has to be between two original parties and with two-third majority," Congress spokesman Ningombam Bupendra Meitei argued.

"...There will be a move to High Court to disqualify them," he had tweeted earlier. Asked if the Congress will move the court, he said, "Not exactly, but private parties will."

The JD-U is also said to be planning to move the court to seek the disqualification of the five MLAs. However, calls made to party's Manipur leaders went unanswered.

Gulf nations financing love jihad in India, says Gujarat BJP MLA

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA

@ Ahmedabad

AHEAD of Assembly polls, Gujarat BJP MLA Shashikant Pandya said on Saturday that "Gulf countries are financing love jihad in India". Pandya was at Deesa in Banaskantha district to attend a rally of Hindu outfits and traders, where the police conducted a lathicharge, in which a man was injured.

Later, speaking at a press conference, he spoke about the Gulf countries and said, "Gulf countries are responsible for love jihad in India. These countries are giving money to the Muslim clerics here to promote love jihad and such work will not be tolerated in India anymore. Those who want to do proselytising and love jihad, should go to Pakistan. This is India. If such acts do not stop soon, then the responsible person should be prepared to suffer the consequences in the coming days."

BJP MLA Shashikant Pandya also reminded the minority community of post-Godhra riots. He said, "If the Aliya, Malviya, Jamaliyas don't mend their ways, then they will suffer the consequences."

Deesa town of Banaskantha district has been on the boil following an alleged suicide attempt by one Rajesh Solanki who had alleged that his wife Chandrika Solanki along with his son and daughter had converted to Islam and started living separately. Rajesh was allegedly asked to either convert or pay ₹25 lakh to live with the family by some people who had "brainwashed" his wife and children. Police have already booked five people in this case and arrested two of the accused.

Various Hindu organisations and BJP MLA took to streets after calling for a bandh to protest against the incident. The police conducted a lathicharge to control the mob, in which a youth was also injured.

Give 10-20 lakh jobs: Prashant Kishor

Bihar is set to witness more political upheavals in the near future. Political strategist turned political worker Prashant Kishor said that Bihar's politics has taken 180 degree turn and more political upheavals will take place in the near future. Kishor, who is on 'Jan Suraj Abhiyan' for almost three months now, said that he would stop his campaign if RJD-JD(U) led Mahagathbandhan government provided 10-20 lakh jobs, as promised by CM Nitish and his deputy Tejashwi Prasad Yadav respectively, in the next one or two years. During an outreach event in Samastipur, Kishor had said that Nitish used 'fevicol' (adhesive brand) to stick to his CM's post while other parties revolved around him.

Toy train set to roll out at Patna Zoo soon

There is some good news for children visiting Sanjay Gandhi Biological Park, popularly known as Patna Zoo, in the state capital. Plans are afoot to restart toy train for the children after a gap of about eight years. During his recent visit, newly inducted environment, forest and climate change department minister Tej Pratap Yadav directed Zoo officials to re-start toy train children at the earliest. He hurried called a meeting with the officials of the Zoo to pass on his instructions. This is the second time within a fortnight that he visited the zoo after assuming charge as a minister. He also clicked some pictures of Royal Bengal tiger at the zoo.

'Tejashwi taking steps to provide jobs'

Newly-elected Bihar Assembly Speaker Awadh Bihari Chaudhary heaped praises on RJD leader and Deputy Chief Minister Tejashwi Prasad Yadav at a felicitation function in Siwan, creating ripples in the state's political circles. Highlighting the achievements of the RJD-JD(U) led Mahagathbandhan government in Bihar, Chaudhary said that deputy chief minister Tejashwi Prasad Yadav has already taken steps to fulfill the party's poll promises to provide 10 lakh jobs. At the same time, he came down heavily on BJP-RSS's plan to weaken the country's democratic set up. The Opposition criticised the Speaker for his remarks.

MP: OBC protest over rape of girl by upper-caste man

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

THE recent expulsion of Uma Bharti-loyalist OBC leader Pritam Singh Lodhi over his outrageous remarks about brahmins, the rape of a 13-year-old Lodhi girl by an upper-caste man in MP's Sagar district, and the death of a 9-year-old Dalit student after being assaulted by an upper-caste teacher in Rajasthan could serve as the impetus for an OBC-SC-ST third front in the state.

The rape of a 13-year-old girl from Lodhi caste (OBC category) by an elderly upper-caste man in the Banda area last month sparked two massive, yet distinct protests ahead of an OBC Mahasabha rally organised by expelled BJP leader Lodhi on Sunday in Sagar district of MP's Bundelkhand region. The two separate protests were staged by Other Backward Class (OBC) Mahasabha and some right-wing Hindu outfits in different parts of Damoh town on Saturday.

Right-wing Hindu organisations protested on the same issue—the rape of the 13-year-old Lodhi girl in Banda—while OBC Mahasabha staged a gathering at the Damoh Tehsil Maidan (Sagar).

Arun Mishra, the accused in the case, has already been arrested, but OBC and Hindu groups rallied in Damoh calling for the death penalty and the destruction of Mishra's property. But the remarks and slogans there showed the contrasting undertone of both marches that contributed to the tense mood in Damoh town. While the OBC leaders, in particular, launched a tirade against the religious preachers known as Kathavachaks in speeches, claiming that Kathavachaks (brahmins) will move from one village to another as political agents in the 2023 polls season. The Hindu outfit activists raised slogans like sadhu santo ka apman nahi sahega Hindustan and jaat paat ki karon vidai Hindu Hindu bhai bhai.

The police had a tough time in controlling both protesting mobs from confronting each other. "Both the protests were staged without any permission. The protestors are being identified and action will be taken against them," said DR Teniwar Damoh, district police superintendent.

UTTARAKHAND

3-member panel to probe hiring

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

A three-member inquiry committee has been formed to examine the recruitments made in the Assembly during the Congress and the BJP regimes in Uttarakhand during 2000-2011. Assembly secretary Mukesh Singhal has been sent on a month's leave, and his office has been sealed. The inquiry committee will submit its report within a month.

Assembly Speaker Ritu Khanduri said the committee, headed by former principal secretary Dalip Kumar Kotia, will examine the appointments and promotions. Three promotions of Singhal in a short term are also under scrutiny. "Initially, the appointments from 2000 to 2011 will be examined. After the inquiry, if the situation demands, appointments of the pre-2011 period will also be brought under scrutiny," Khanduri said.

Former speakers Govind Singh Kunjwal and Premchand Agarwal had made 152 and 73 appointments in the Assembly, respectively. Both had described it as their prerogative when questions arose.

Is Ashok Chavan joining BJP? Maharashtra Cong calls it 'fake news'

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE meeting between Ashok Chavan and Devendra Fadnavis has raised speculation about the former Maharashtra Chief Minister, along with eight Congress MLAs, may join the BJP.

Though Chavan has not denied his meeting with Fadnavis, Maharashtra Congress Legislative Party leader Balasaheb Thorat has issued a statement, calling it "fake news".

"Reports in the media regarding my colleague and senior Congress leader Ashok Chavan are false, mischievous and misleading in nature. Ashok Chavan is actively planning the Bharat Jodo Yatra. Together we are determined to strengthen the Congress in Maharashtra," said Thorat. "There have been attempts to create confusion by giving false news regarding Chavan and the Congress in the last few days. We request the media to stop spreading false news," Thorat added.

Senior BJP leader and revenue minister Radhakrishna

Vikhe Patil said that the party leadership would consider positively if there was such a proposal of Chavan joining the saffron party. Vikhe Patil said that Congress leaders and workers realised that there was no future in the party, therefore, they wanted to leave the "sinking ship". Fadnavis confirming his meeting with Chavan said that he met Chavan at a Ganesh mandal.

Speculations of Chavan joining the BJP have started after he skipped the voting during the floor test of CM Eknath Shinde along with nine MLAs. "Eight Congress MLAs cross-voted during the Maharashtra state legislative council elections, suggesting that all is not well in the party and the MLAs can switch sides any time," Fadnavis added.

Another senior BJP leader said that the second cabinet expansion of the Shinde-Fadnavis government was expected by September 15, but it could be delayed due to possible joining of Congress MLAs, including the former CM.

Cooperating with probe: Payment firms

EARLIER this year, a working group set up by the Reserve Bank of India found that 600 illegal lending apps existed between January 1, 2021 and February 28, 2021.

Reacting to the raids, Cash-free Payments' spokesperson said, "We extended our diligent cooperation to the ED operations, providing them the required and necessary information on the same day of enquiry. Our operations and on-boarding processes adhere to the PMLA and KYC directions, and we will continue to do so." Paytm spokesperson said, "We are supporting law enforcement agencies, which are investigating a specific set of merchants. The authorities reached out to us with directions to provide certain information about these merchants under scrutiny, to which we promptly responded. We continue to cooperate with the authorities and remain fully compliant."

TWO BJP MPS AMONG NINE BOOKED OVER ATC BREACH

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

THE Jharkhand Police on Thursday booked two BJP MPs Nishikant Dubey and Manoj Tiwari and seven others for forcibly entering the Air Traffic Control (ATC) building at Deoghar Airport on Wednesday and forcing officials there to clear the take-off of their chartered aircraft.

Deoghar Airport has no night-landing or take off facility. The FIR, lodged by airport security in-charge Suman Anan, charged Dubey for violating safety standards by forcing the ATC officials to clear the plane's take off beyond the airport's scheduled operating hours.

The FIR also included the names of Dubey's two sons — Kanishka and Mahikant. Dubey and the others

Nishikant Dubey claimed he was being punished over the August 23 letter he wrote to the Chief Election Commissioner, reminding him about the EC's 2021 order removing Deoghar Deputy Commissioner Manjunath Bhajantri from his post wanted to fly to Jharkhand's Dumka on Wednesday to meet family of minor girl Ankita who was burnt alive by an alleged jilted lover.

"It is clear that the above mentioned people entered the ATC violating safety standards and pressurised officials to give clearance for the takeoff, despite the fact that airport has no night-landing or take off facility," the FIR said.

Coal crisis may hit power generation in Punjab

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

IRREGULAR and tardy coal supply in Punjab, with the state getting only around 25 to 30 rakes of coal daily from the pit heads in the eastern states, is preventing replenishment of stocks for its thermal power plants. While the pre-Covid daily supply was between 40 and 45 rakes, the current grim situation, worsened by the rains, can potentially impact power generation across Punjab.

This is in the face of the Railways giving 40 percent discount in rates for transportation of fly ash to private cement manufacturing companies.

Railways sources said that the pre-Covid period saw Punjab and Haryana receiving around 90 to 110 rakes, daily transporting commodities, fertilisers, food grains, coal and other raw material. The figure now stood at 80 to 90 rakes daily, the sources added.

When the Covid pandemic hit, the number of coal rakes reaching the two states went down to 50 to 60 before touching

The total fuel cost for the thermal plants is ₹4,500 and ₹4,900 per tonne

The Railways is giving 40 per cent discount in rates for transportation of fly ash to private cement-manufacturing firms

The state government repeatedly pleaded with the Railways to extend the 20 per cent discount as it directly impacted power cost

The Centre had recently asked Punjab and Haryana to buy their own rakes for coal evacuation from Coal India Ltd mines only 25 to 30.

"In each rake, 58-60 wagons carried 4,000 metric tonnes of coal. The cost involved was about ₹1 crore per rake. Depending on the quality, coal costs at pitheads in Jharkhand and Odisha vary between ₹1,800 and ₹2,200 per tonne. With freight charges at ₹2,700 per metric tonne, the rakes covered distances ranging between 1,400 and 1,600 kms, taking three to nine days for the coal to reach their destinations in Punjab and Haryana. The total fuel cost for the thermal plants is ₹4,500 and ₹4,900 per tonne," an official explained.

The Railways, sources said, devised several freight policy measures such as 20 percent rebate on freight charges on long lead traffic for coal, coke, iron ore and steel and 25 percent concession on haulage charge for empty containers and wagons. At the same time, to enhance rake utilisation, the Railways also offered a 40 percent discount for transportation of fly ash, a major raw material for cement manufacturers.

Surprisingly, however, the 20 percent rebate for long lead traffic on iron ore and steel was withdrawn on June 30, 2021, and the discount for coal and coke was ended on December 31 the same year. The 40 percent rebate on transportation of fly ash, however, continues.

Sources said the state government repeatedly pleaded with the Railways to extend the 20 percent discount as it directly impacted power cost which is subsequently passed on to consumers. At the same time, thermal power plants are not getting sufficient rakes despite being prepared to pay 115 percent premium over the base freight.

When contacted, Rajeev Jain, Spokesman and ADG Ministry of Railways, sought a written questionnaire which he did not respond to. Avinash Mishra, Executive Director (Coal) at the Railway Board refused to comment.

Mourners say goodbye to Gorbachev; Putin absent

Kremlin said Prez's schedule doesn't allow him to attend funeral

MOSCOW

FORMER Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, who launched drastic reforms and precipitated the breakup of the Soviet Union, was buried Saturday after a farewell ceremony attended by thousands of mourners but snubbed by Russian President Vladimir Putin.

The Kremlin's refusal to formally declare a state funeral reflects its uneasiness about the legacy of Gorbachev, who has been venerated worldwide for bringing down the Iron Curtain but reviled by many at home for the Soviet collapse and the ensuing economic meltdown that plunged millions into poverty.

On Thursday, Putin privately laid flowers at Gorbachev's coffin at a Moscow hospital where he died. The Kremlin said the president's busy schedule would prevent him from attending the funeral.

Asked what specific business will keep Putin busy on Saturday, Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov told that the president will have a series of working meetings, an international phone call and needs to prepare for a business forum in Russia's Far East.

Gorbachev, who died Tuesday at the age of 91, was buried at Moscow's Novodevichy cemetery next to his wife Raisa, following a farewell ceremony at the Pillar Hall of the House of the Unions, an opulent 18th-century mansion near the Kremlin that has served as the venue for state funerals since Soviet times.

At the ceremony Saturday, mourners passed by Gorbachev's open casket flanked by honorary guards, laying flowers as solemn music played. Gorbachev's daughter, Irina, and his two granddaughters sat beside the coffin.

The grand, chandeliered hall lined by columns hosted balls for the nobility under the czars and served as a venue for high-level meetings and congresses along with state funerals during Soviet times.

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

After seven weeks, former Sri Lankan President Gotabaya Rajapaksa finally returned to Colombo on September 2. He fled on July 13 after the nation witnessed huge protests over country's worst economic crisis.

He will be living in a state bungalow close to Wijerama Mawatha in Colombo while a large security contingency will be appointed to maintain security in the area.

(Sri Lanka Podujana Peramuna) went to the airport to receive him when he returned from Bangkok on a Singapore Airlines flight. His wife, Ioma, too returned with him. He looked visibly happy and relieved," say sources.

The New Indian Express was the first to report on August 22 that Gotabaya would return to Colombo in the first week of September.

Meanwhile, the support that Gotabaya received on his arrival at Bandaranaika International Airport indicates that his supporters from SLPP will try and garner support for him. Some sources suggest he might return to politics sometime.

Gotabaya is said to be waiting to get his US Green Card as both his wife and son are US citizens and Gotabaya had to surrender his citizenship when he became President.

When he was trying to flee Colombo in July, he was desperate to go to the US but couldn't as he could not manage a short term visa. "His stay in Bangkok left him feeling very uneasy as he was confined to stay in the hotel due to security reasons. He was looking forward to returning to Colombo," say sources.

Gotabaya is likely to lie low for sometime, before he makes any statement or suggests which way he will head towards. However, his return triggered calls for his arrest. Leaders of the protest campaign that toppled his government said Rajapaksa should now be brought to justice.

US approves $1 billion arms sale to Taiwan

WASHINGTON

THE Biden administration announced a more than $1 billion arms sale to Taiwan as US-China tensions escalate over the status of the island.

The $1.09 billion sale includes $355 million for Harpoon air-to-sea missiles and $85 million for Sidewinder air-to-air missiles, the State Department said.

The largest portion of the sale, however, is a $655 million logistics support package for Taiwan's surveillance radar programme, which provides air defense warnings.

Early warning air defense systems have become more important as China has stepped up military drills near Taiwan, which it regards as a renegade province.

The State Department said the equipment is necessary for Taiwan to "maintain a sufficient self-defense capability."

Laura Rosenberger, the White House's senior director for China and Taiwan, said Friday that as China "continues to increase pressure on Taiwan—including through heightened military air and maritime presence around Taiwan—and engages in attempts to change the status quo in the Taiwan Strait, we're providing Taiwan with what it needs to maintain its self-defense capabilities." Meteoric rise in Adani's wealth

After trailing behind Mukesh Ambani for a considerable period of time in billionaires' list, in Feb 2022, he overtook RIL Chairman and cemented his position as Asia's richest person

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

GAUTAM ADANI'S rise among global billionaires is nothing but surreal. In just a few years, from being a regular billionaire, he has now risen to become the world's third-richest individual, a feat that no Indian or Asian has ever achieved.

According to the Bloomberg Billionaire Index, Gautam Adani's wealth stood at $141 billion on Friday. There has been a phenomenal growth of his wealth. Adani's wealth was less than $10 billion when covid-19 first became a global phenomenon in March 2020.

After trailing behind Mukesh Ambani for a considerable period of time in the billionaires' list, in February 2022, he overtook the RIL chairman and cemented his position as Asia's richest person.

A decade back in 2012 when Ambani's wealth was pegged at $18.7 billion, Adani's fortune stood at $3.1 billion, as per data provided by IIFL Wealth Hurun India Rich List. Adani, now, is $50 billion wealthier than Ambani.

It wouldn't be surprising if the Ahmedabad-based business tycoon, whose empire stretches from power generation to FMCG, overtakes e-commerce giant Amazon chief Jeff Bezos to become the world's second-richest person, as the gap between the two may come down to single digit as early as next week.

Adani has added $65 billion to his wealth so far in 2022, more than any other billionaire around the globe, while Bezos' fortune has shrunk by $45.5 billion to $151 billion.

Tesla and SpaceX chief Elon Musk remains the world's richest with a net worth of $241 billion.

The meteoric rise

This meteoric rise in Gautam Adani's wealth is attributed to the confidence investors are showing in the conglomerate's seven listed stocks. In the past 5 years or since few listings in 2018 till date, five Adani stocks have gained anywhere between 1200% to 7992%. The pace of growth has been sharper in the past two years and in the past six months alone, the market capitalisation of his listed entities has more than doubled to over ₹20 lakh crore.

In all the seven listed Adani companies, the promoter shareholding is 60% or more. Equitymaster, an equity re-

Company	Share price (Sept 2)	Market cap (in crore)	YTD performance
Adani Green	₹2,383	₹3,77,482	77%
Adani Total Gas	₹3,625	₹3,98,736	106%
Adani Enterprises	₹3,357	₹3,82,693	96%
Adani Transmission	₹3,862	₹4,30,842	123%
Adani Wilmar	₹676	₹87,871	155%
Adani Ports	₹851	₹1,79,879	16%
Adani Power	₹401	₹1,54,644	195%

search firm, in a recent note said investors have been in a "frenzy" over Adani stocks, partly due to investors suffering from "FOMO" (fear of missing out) while others "probably think he is too big to fail now".

However, it also cautioned that the group's companies are trading "at valuations far higher than the industry average, indicating they are highly overpriced ... even if you factor in their phenomenal growth, leadership status, or the fact the businesses are aligned" with Prime Minister Modi's nation-building vision.

A few other analysts, in hush hush tones, also spoke about the Group's rising debt level and the exorbitant valuation (except for Adani Ports & SEZ and Adani Wilmar), all the Adani stocks are commanding. A senior analyst at a brokerage firm said that there is widespread surety among investors that Adani Group has become too big to fail and the promoter's close proximity with India's ruling party gives it a unique leverage.

Gautam Adani's close proximity to PM Modi has been often talked about. While Adani was already a successful entrepreneur before PM Modi in 2014 took the centre stage in national politics, his wealth in the past 8 years has grown by 20- times from $7.3 billion in 2014 to about $140 billion now.

"In many sectors, where the Central Government wanted India to be self-reliant or favour privatisation, Adani Group was a major beneficiary. Take for example, the government's push for solar energy which started around 2015. It was around the same time when Adani Green was set up and today Adani Green is the country's largest renewable player. Similar examples can be seen in leasing Airports and winning infrastructure contracts," said the senior analyst on condition of anonymity.

On an expansion mode

In more recent times, the Group has escalated its speed when it comes to entering new businesses. It has acquired Holcim's controlling stake in Ambuja Cement and ACC Limited for $10.5 bn, thereby becoming the nation's second largest cement maker virtually overnight, participated in 5G spectrum auctions to boost its data centre business, plans to set up alumina refinery and iron ore plant in Odisha that could cost over ₹58,000 crore among other investments.

However, Adani's most talked about acquisition effort came last week when it attempted a hostile takeover of New Delhi Television Ltd (NDTV). The Roys, founder-promoters of NDTV, are putting on a fight to retain the media outlet.

These acquisitions and expansions, which are mostly debt funded, have become a cause for concern. Credit-Sights in a recent report said that Gautam Adani's ports-to-power conglomerate is "deeply overleveraged".

"In the worst-case scenario, overly ambitious debt-funded growth plans could eventually spiral into a massive debt trap, and possibly culminate into a distressed situation or default of one or more group companies. Overall, we remain cautiously watchful of the Group's growing expansion appetite, which is largely debt-funded," the Fitch Group unit said.

Talking about high debts, the Group's acquisition of Holcim's India businesses is expected to add another ₹40,000 crore to the Group's debt, taking it to nearly ₹2.6 lakh crore, said an analysis by Credit Suisse.

The Gautam Adani-led Group has seen its debt levels increase over the past five years from ₹1 lakh to ₹2.2 lakh crore as of March 2022. However, analysts at Credit Suisse also pointed out that while debt levels may have gone up, the cash flows for the Group have also grown steadily, with more assets coming on stream and becoming operational. As such, the net debt/Ebitda at Group level has come off to around 5x in FY22, compared with a little less than 7.5x in FY16.

Learning from Dhirubhai, succession plans must be tight and early

GURBIR SINGH

THE big highlight of Reliance Industries' (RIL) recently held AGM was the broad succession plan Mukesh Ambani, chairman and MD of the Reliance Group, shared with his shareholders. He does not want to make the same mistake made by his father, Dhirubhai Ambani made - he left without a will on July 6, 2002, bequeathing a messy separation between his two sons, Mukesh and Anil.

Announcing a three-way division, Mukesh Ambani, just 65, said son Akash will lead the digital business housed in Jio. Akash's twin Isha has been designated head of Reliance's vast retail business, while 27-year-old Anant will be in-charge of the group's energy business. Mukesh Ambani is not retiring and will continue to head the big holding companies like RIL and Jio Platforms; but he has marked out the road ahead for his children.

The first, bitter round

In the case of Dhirubhai Ambani, he deliberately did not leave a will behind as he felt that way the two brothers would remain united. The result was the opposite. After Dhirubhai's death, Mukesh kept a tight control over the flagship Reliance Industries, while Anil smarted with the feeling he was being ignored. By 2004, it was out in the open when Mukesh disclosed in his famous lines: "There are ownership issues."

Then followed a decade of bitter feud between the brothers. It ended with mother Kokilaben overseeing a formal family division in 2013 that split the Dhirubhai empire into two groups. It was broadly a 70:30 split in favour of Mukesh, who got all the traditional businesses like oil refining stabled in Reliance Industries, while some of the new businesses like Reliance Energy and Reliance Capital went to Anil Ambani.

The rest is well known. Mukesh has driven the Ambani stake of 47% in RIL, worth Rs 35,000 crore in 2004, to something close to Rs 8 lakh crore today. Anil, on the other hand, failed at most of the businesses he fronted like energy, defense and entertainment. Had the

Mukesh Ambani's succession plan

Announcing a three-way division, Mukesh Ambani, just 65, said son Akash will lead digital business housed in Jio. Akash's twin Isha has been designated head of Reliance's vast retail business, while 27-year-old Anant will be in-charge of the group's energy business. Mukesh Ambani is not retiring and will continue to head the big holding companies like RIL and Jio Platforms; but he has marked out the road ahead for his children. In the case of Dhirubhai Ambani, he didn't leave a will behind as he felt that way the two brothers would remain united. The result was opposite. After Dhirubhai's death, Mukesh kept a tight control over the flagship RIL, while Anil smarted with the feeling he was being ignored two remained as one group, as the father wanted, would the course of history have been different?

The Ambani split is a classic case of a big family-run business house not being able to make its first generational leap. Family-run businesses, by their very nature, are anathema to corporate capitalism as they represent the old 'feudal' mix of ownership and management in one bucket. History shows these businesses are prone to the intrigues of family members; and instead of professional management, they encourage courtiers at high posts.

History as teacher

The history of corporate India is littered with Shakespearean tragedies ranging from no succession plan to badly drafted succession plans. The Raymonds family battle ensued because there was no succession plan. In the first division of assets, the J K

Group, built by Kanpur businessmen Juggilal Singhanian and Kamalpat Singhanian, split into 3 parts in the 1970s - Raymond Woollen Mills, set up in 1925, went to Vijaypat Singhanian. By 2000, Vijaypat hung up his shoes and handed over his business empire to son, Gautam.

But then something went wrong in the asset division. By 2017, Vijaypat was in court complaining he had been done out of a luxury flat in the redeveloped J K House by son Gautam, and he was forced to stay in a rented apartment. Justice Girish Kulkarni of the Bombay High Court, who was hearing the dispute, remarked: "Such matters should not have reached the courts... These are disputes between a father and son. Try and resolve it amicably." It never happened.

The Hindujas, a $11 billion London-headquartered group, made their mark in India with 3 listed companies - Ashok Leyland, IndusInd Bank and lubricant company Gulf Oil. The basis of the dispute goes back to 2014 when the 4 Hinduja brothers - Srichand, Gopichand, Prakash and Ashok - signed a letter declaring the assets held by one brother belonged to all the others; and that each of them will appoint the others as their executors.

The dispute was triggered when three of the brothers tried to take control of a bank in Switzerland, the Hinduja Bank, promoted solely by Srichand, using the 2014 letter.

There is a cycle in these disputes. When families start as traders or small manufacturers, they stick together like glue and are fiercely loyal to each other. The disputes come with success and when the third or fourth generation demand a piece of the cake. In the case of the Hindujas, the Switzerland-based Hinduja Bank had Shanu Hinduja, Srichand's daughter as chairperson, and her son Karam who was inducted as CEO, in the eye of the storm.

Having learnt a lesson from the first debacle in the succession story, Mukesh Ambani has started early to create the silos for his heirs. Till capitalism evolves in India to a more 'corporate' form, 'family' capitalism is here to stay. An old Credit Suisse report of 2018 shows India has the third-largest number of family-owned businesses in the world after Germany and China.

Thus, the need for good succession planning, including mentoring into leadership roles, will be an important agenda for some time to come.

Trade deficit in August at $28.68 billion

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

INDIA'S trade deficit more than doubled in August to $28.68 billion as compared to same month last year amid inflation and global geopolitical tensions, as per the government data.

In the same month during previous year, the trade deficit stood at $11.71 billion. However, sequentially it has moderated. In the previous month, it was at a record high of $30 billion. Interestingly, exports remained flat during the month, while imports increased by 37% to $67.68 billion. Commerce Secretary B V R Subrahmanyam believes exports will pick up in the coming months. According to him, overall exports will cross $450 billion by end of the current fiscal year. He said increase in imports was because of stocking up of coal and petroleum products for energy security.

Between April and August 2022, exports surged by 17.12% to $192.59 billion. Whereas imports saw an increase of 45.64% to $317.81 billion over the first five months of the current financial year.

31st Mineral Development Awareness Program-22

Three days long event for 31st Mineral Development Program MDAP-2022 from 26th to 28th August, organised by the Society of Geoscientists and Allied Technologists (SGAT), Bhubaneswar in Joda-Barbil area was concluded in a glittering valedictory function held in the Valley Club of Tata Steel, Joda on 28/08/2022. The mining, mineral processing and metal manufacturing sectors have emerged as an important source of employment opportunities. Nevertheless, there has been concern over widespread environmental pollution by these sectors for which government is taking relevant measures. As ores and minerals are found in limited geological milieu and geographical regions there has to be a balance between mining leading to economic development, addressing the environmental issues. With a view to spread awareness and familiarising students pursuing PG/degree courses in geosciences, mining, metallurgy, materials science and mineral engineering about the latest developments in respective disciplines so that they can be groomed as future players in the sector, the SGAT has been organising MDAP annually since 3 decades.

To everyone in that box, it's been a fun ride. It's been the most incredible ride and journey I have ever been on in my life. I'm so grateful to every single person that has ever said 'go Serena!' in their life. I'm just so grateful. You got me here. — Serena Williams

US' Serena Williams lost to Australia's Ajla Tomljanovic (7-5, 6-7 (4), 6-1) in the women's singles third round match of US Open on Friday | AFP

TOP CONTESTS THAT HIGHLIGHTS AND INFORMS SERENA'S INCREDIBLE CAREER...

1999

US Open final (W) / Martina Hingis / 6-3, 7-6

The first of Serena's 23 Majors. World No 1 Hingis was despatched with power and that ever dependable service that since helped her to a clutch of titles. Her final five victims were either future or past Major winners (Hingis, Lindsay Davenport, Monica Seles, Conchita Martinez and Kim Clijsters). It was the beginning of a special journey.

Indian Wells final (W) / Kim Clijsters / 4-6, 6-4, 6-2

The sisters were supposed to face each other in the semifinals but Venus withdrew in the last minute. The crowd reacted in an unsavoury manner in the final with boos as soon as Serena took to court. Father, Richard, Venus and Serena were jeered in the final. There were also reports of racist jeers. The end result? The sisters boycotted one of the biggest events on the calendar for 14 years.

French Open final (W) / Venus Williams / 7-5, 6-3

The older sister had always held the upper hand in this still somewhat nascent rivalry (5-3 Venus till then) before the final. That final, though, changed everything. Serena didn't just win the first of the four Majors to complete the 'Serena Slam'. It also helped her to take a big mental step towards becoming the dominant force in this rivalry. 5-3 to Venus eventually became 19-12 to Serena.

Wimbledon final (L) / Maria Sharapova / 1-6, 4-6

One of Serena's worst losses in a final in terms of games won. She has blown by the ball-striking of the blonde Russian. Column writers had already heralded Sharapova as being a worthy rival following the match. What followed, though, was Serena going into overdrive whenever she faced Sharapova following this match. The head to head is 20-2.

Australian Open final (W) / Maria Sharapova / 6-1, 6-2

Remains her joint-best final in terms of games conceded. Was ranked No 81 and her best was a fourth round appearance in her last seven Majors. Announced that she wanted to be the best and demolished the field. A visit to 'House of Slaves' museum in Dakar in 2006 November had given her the necessary drive and hunger to escape her funk, according to half-sister, Isha Price.

2009

US Open semifinal (L) / Kim Clijsters / 4-6, 5-7

In hindsight, this will probably be high on Serena's regret list. She was called for a foot fault giving Clijsters match point. What followed was a tirade in the general direction of the line judge. She did apologise later but it counted for little because of what had preceded it.

Australian Open final (W) / Venus Williams / 6-4, 6-4

She was 2 months pregnant but played after receiving clearance. One of her most accomplished shows at a Major as she blew away the field without dropping a set (dropped only 16 games from the quarters). Will now be her final Major win.

A BEAUTIFUL LIFE

Serena heads into retirement leaving behind a legacy unparalleled in the history of the sport

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

To watch athletes perform at the apex of sport is a study in understanding perfection. They have their own laws of physics. They challenge convention. They show sport for what it can be — Art. They don't just merely make the impossible possible. They create poems while doing so. It's the ultimate marriage between excellence and perseverance.

Inside the cavernous Arthur Ashe Stadium on Friday night, one of the greatest to ever play any form of professional sport was at work. Trying to marry excellence and perseverance for the umpteenth time.

Serena Jameka Williams.

For two magical nights, she had turned back the clock. Would there be a fairytale ending? On Friday, she did what she does best. Rage against the dying of light against Australia's Ajla Tomljanovic, 11 years Williams' junior. She lost the first set but recovered to take the second in the tie-breaker. Even when she was down 1-5 in the third, she produced one final fight. That final game before the Australian won 7-5, 6-7 (4), 6-1 alone clocked some 13 minutes. Williams saved five match points, each of those being cheered by the crowd like it was Championship point. Tomljanovic completed the job to momentarily mute the crowd. After a brief pause, Williams raised her hand to acknowledge them.

Just like that, it had ended in the exact same venue where it all began for the uber-talented teenager from Compton, California. At the US Open in 1999, Williams, then 17, beat Martina Hingis in straight sets to win her first Major. Over the last 23 years since that September night, she didn't just turn water into wine. Her legacy isn't just what she did on a tennis court. 23 Majors, 319 weeks as World No 1, 858 wins on the circuit, 73 titles, four Olympic gold and 367 wins in Slams alone. With such a record, you can see why she has as good a claim as any to be 'greatest of all time, period', as Tomljanovic so succinctly put it in the post-match speech. With Williams, though, it's necessary to zoom out the lens, to go beyond the numbers. Her legacy isn't the titles in her bedroom. It's in changing a mindset of a very white sport. It's in inspiring black kids to take up the sport. It's in rebelling against the system, knowing full well she will be looked at as an outsider. It's in supporting issues like the Black Lives Matter movement. It's in leading the fight for women's empowerment. It's in inspiring scores of mothers.

US' Coco Gauff, who will play her fourth-round match on Sunday, offered this tribute on what Williams meant to her. "I think really just the way she was able to transform a sport that's predominantly white," she said during the media day last week. "That's something that as a little girl — even now — meant a lot to me. So, growing up I never thought that I was different because the No 1 player in the world was somebody who looked like me. Sometimes being a woman, a black woman in the world, you kind of settle for less. I feel like Serena taught me that, from watching her, she never settled for less."

Naomi Osaka, who so famously beat Williams in the US Open final in 2017, had said her legacy can't be described. "She's introduced people that have never heard of tennis into the sport. I'm a product of what she's done. I wouldn't be here without Serena..." she had said before the start of the US Open. It's why her phenomenon will continue to stand the test of time. In a sport which has had historical under-representation among minorities, her story will show it's possible. Serena's story began in Compton in the backdrop of 'homelessness, drugs, crime and gangs', according to CNN. Patricia Moore, a former Compton City Councilwoman, recounted a story to the news outlet in 2015. "They (the gangs) would surround the court (on Compton Boulevard)," she told the news outlet. "They wanted the girls to do well." They used to surround the court to ensure nobody messed with them.

The sisters — Serena's story is impossible to tell without Venus — soon outgrew those humble surroundings. Father, Richard, had proclaimed that they were destined for the top and he was right. Both of them turned professionals before starting to beat players twice their age. While Venus, older by two years, reached a Major final first (1997, US Open), it was Serena who first won a Slam (1999, US Open). Even then, what was clear was the weapons Serena had in her arsenal. That big first serve and her sheer ball-hitting prowess from the baseline. Sure, she was blessed with innate power to dismiss the best in the business but you also need to know how and when to use it. She had a pre-natural ability to do both and that's what helped her ascend to the top of the women's game even before she turned 20. It also helped that she loved nothing more than a scrap, the will to chase down lost causes and fight past any obstacle in her path.

She combined both to devastating effect for the first time across an unbelievable 14-month period from 2002 May to 2003 July when she won five of the six Majors on offer. The first real challenge from somebody not named Venus came from Maria Sharapova at the Wimbledon final in 2004. The Russian did not just win 6-1, 6-4, she eviscerated Williams with a style and panache that took the breath away. "Williams had met her match," ran the headlines the next day. "This is going to be a rivalry for the ages," was another summary.

By the time the pair finished their final face off in 2019, Williams had won 18 of the 20 matches, with Sharapova winning just five more sets and one more match since that Wimbledon final. This sort of competitive streak helped define Williams' career. It also got her into trouble with officials (she threatened a line judge with asphyxiation with a tennis ball after she was handed a foot fault in the US Open semifinal in 2009) on more than one occasion. In the 2018 final against Naomi Osaka, she called the chair umpire 'a thief'. After umpire Carlos Ramos handed down a second code violation, she promised Ramos that he would 'never, ever be on another court of mine. You are the liar'. A full blown meltdown meant Osaka won her first Major. At the time, it looked like Williams would eventually win a record 24th Slam. Two more losses in finals followed, the last being at Flushing Meadows in 2019. That final against Osaka, though, shifted the goalposts somewhat. It was, in hindsight, the beginning of the end.

At some level, it will be poetic if her final match is to be at Arthur Ashe. It has given her the highest of highs and lowest of lows.

Friday night, though, wasn't a low. It allowed tennis fans and the wider fraternity to come together as a collective and join their hands for one final time to salute a colossus.

Everton hold Liverpool in PL

AP @ Liverpool

LIVERPOOL were denied another injury-time winner when Mohamed Salah's shot hit the post in the 95th minute as an entertaining Merseyside derby against Everton ended in a 0-0 draw in the Premier League.

Everton had earlier been denied a goal by VAR and a stellar save from Liverpool goalkeeper Alisson Becker; while his counterpart Jordan Pickford also made a handful of good stops to keep the visitors at bay. In the dying seconds, Salah's low effort slammed against the near post after brushing the fingertips of Pickford.

NASA's moon launch postponed once more

THE SECOND ATTEMPT WAS SCRAPPED AFTER A FUEL LEAK WAS DETECTED

SPACE

KENNEDY SPACE CENTER : NASA on Saturday scrapped a second attempt to get its new 30-story rocket off the ground and send its uncrewed test capsule toward the Moon after engineers detected a fuel leak.

With millions around the globe and hundreds of thousands on nearby beaches waiting for the historic launch of the massive Space Launch System (SLS), a leak near the base of the rocket was found as ultra-cold liquid hydrogen was being pumped in.

"The launch director waived off today's Artemis I launch," NASA said in a statement. "Multiple troubleshooting efforts to address the area of the leak... did not fix the issue."

Though the area around the launch site was closed to the public, an estimated 400,000 people had gathered nearby to see—and hear—the most powerful vehicle that NASA has ever launched climb into space.

The initial launch attempt on Monday was also halted after engineers detected a fuel leak and a sensor showed that one of the rocket's four main engines was too hot. Early Saturday, launch director Charlie Blackwell-Thompson had given the go-ahead to start filling the rocket's tanks with cryogenic fuel. About three million liters of ultra-cold liquid hydrogen and oxygen were due to be pumped into the spacecraft, but the process soon hit problems.

No new date for another try was immediately announced.

After the latest delay, there are backup opportunities on Monday or Tuesday. After that, the next launch window will not be until September 19, due to the Moon's position.

Vehicle Assembly Building (L) and the Launch Control Center in foreground as the Artemis I rocket (R rear), with the Orion spacecraft aboard, sits Launch pad

The purpose of the Artemis 1 mission is to verify that the Orion capsule, which sits atop the SLS rocket, is safe to carry astronauts in the future.

Mannequins equipped with sensors are standing in for astronauts on the mission and will record acceleration, vibration and radiation levels.

It will take several days for the spacecraft to reach the Moon, flying around 100 kilometres at its closest approach. The capsule will fire its engines to get to a distant retrograde orbit (DRO) of 40,000 miles beyond the Moon, a record for a spacecraft rated to carry humans. The trip is expected to last around six weeks and one of its main objectives is to test the capsule's heat shield, which at 16 feet in diameter is the largest ever built.

On its return to Earth's atmosphere, the heat shield will have to withstand speeds of 25,000 miles per hour and a temperature of 2,760 degrees Celsius—roughly half as hot as the Sun. Artemis is named after the twin sister of the Greek god Apollo, after whom the first Moon missions were named.

Unlike the Apollo missions, which sent only white men to the Moon between 1969 and 1972, Artemis missions will see the first person of color and the first woman step foot on the lunar surface.

A government audit estimates the Artemis program's cost will grow to $93 billion by 2025, with each of its first four missions clocking in at a whopping $4.1 billion per launch.

EU BACKS PRICE CAP ON RUSSIAN GAS

ENERGY

BRUSSELS: The European Union's top executive said Friday that the bloc's electricity market "is no longer operating" amid the Ukraine war, and proposed a price cap on Russian pipeline gas.

European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen blamed Russian President Vladimir Putin's war against Ukraine for the energy crisis and the dramatic rise in gas and electricity prices. She said Europe's priority is to save energy because reserves are scarce, although the 27-nation bloc has already reached its goal of filling gas storage to 80% of capacity ahead of the winter months. The target date was November 1.

"We had imagined this would take two more months," she said in a speech in the German town of Murnau. "We have worked hard to end our dependency on Russian gas, turning instead to other suppliers. As a result, Norway now delivers more gas to Europe than Russia. Furthermore, the US is supplying Europe with considerable volumes of liquid gas."

Natural gas is used to power industry, heat homes and offices, and generate electricity.

Russian energy giant Gazprom said Friday that it can't resume natural gas supplies through a major pipeline to Germany for now because of what it said was a need for urgent maintenance work. The announcement came just hours before Gazprom was due to recommence deliveries after a three-day stoppage. Gazprom started cutting supplies through the Nord Stream 1 pipeline in mid-June and Russia has reduced gas deliveries to several European countries which have sided with Ukraine in the war. "We see that the electricity market is no longer operating because it is being severely disrupted by Putin's manipulation," von der Leyen said.
